Committee Gives Out Testimony on Red Underground

Two Rings Were Operating in This Country in 1930's in State Department

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee today released heretofore secret testimony claiming that two Communist underground rings were operating simultaneously in the State Department in the 1930's.

The testimony was given Aug. 22, to Reps. Mundt (R-S.D.) and Nixon (R-Calif.), committee members, at a closed session here by Whittaker Chambers, self-styled former Communist and now an editor of Time Magazine.

The congressman said Chambers had three times been discussed with Alger Hiss, former State Department official, several persons who might be brought into the Red network, to which he said Hiss belonged.

The person mentioned, Chambers said, was Noel Field, then in the department's western European division. Field was not further identified in the testimony.

The Hiss made a number of attempts to "draw Field in," Chambers said, "to discover if the show-down that Field was connected with another apparatus."

The testimony appeared in a 14-page volume made public by the committee. It covered the private questioning of several witnesses here and in New York City.

Chambers, one of the committee's main witnesses in its investigation of Soviet spying before and during the war, named Hiss as one of an "apparatus" of government officials with whom the Communist party worked during the 1930's. Chambers said he said he was a party liaison man with the government group to which Hiss belonged.

Chambers named Hiss as a "Communist" and said he knew he was a Communist. Chambers said he was known to Hiss as "Harry."

Hiss publicly denied Chambers' testimony and at first declared he had never known Chambers. He later said he knew Chambers as a free lance writer who called himself George Greder.

After the hearings, Hiss charged Chambers to retract his accusations without the legal immunity assigned by a government witness. Chambers repeated them in a radio broadcast, and Hiss said him for libel.

Chambers described his party life in this way in the published testimony:

"The problem we had, the problem the Communist Party had with this group of intellectuals, which is exactly what they were, was keeping together and

Runaway Auto Is Pulled From Creek Had No Occupants

The overturned automobile of Daniel Barnhart, Jr., of 21 Ravine street was pulled from about six feet of water in the Rondout Creek about 7:40 a. m. today, the police reported.

"Since no one was inside the automobile and the doors were closed, police are of the opinion that the vehicle, a 1936 DeSoto sedan, rolled down the hill from its parking place in front of Barnhart's home and plunged through the guard rail on Abel street and into the creek.

First reports of the submerged automobile reached police at 6:40 a. m., when police, firemen and a wrecker were sent to the dock. Firemen stood by with an inhalator in the event a person was found inside the automobile.

Only the rear tires of the overturned car were visible above the water, police said. Two posts and about 25 feet of guard rail were taken down as the automobile plunged through.

Barnhart, the owner of the automobile, was at home when the accident occurred. He appeared on the scene after he first learned of the incident about 7:30 a. m., police said.

"The time of the accident is not definitely known, but a resident of the area reported to Patrolmen George Bowers and Edward Leonard that she heard a noise about 4:30 a. m. which may have been the crash through the guard rail.

Communist Thinks Berlin Council Is To Fold Up Soon

Central Government Final Link Between East and West Sectors of Capital

Berlin, Oct. 14 (AP)—A Communist spokesman predicted last night Berlin's central government, last link between the eastern and western sectors of the divided city, would fall to pieces soon.

The spokesman, Karl Maron, made this prediction a few hours after a clash between Communists and non-Communists of the city's magistrat (executive department).

A Communist official who was fired by the city government last week attended a session in the meeting hall yesterday. The hall is in the Soviet sector. When the official, Waldemar Schmidt, chief of the city labor department, refused to leave, the non-Communist members walked out and resumed their meeting in a British sector building. Schmidt and two other Communist magistrat members remained in the Soviet sector hall.

Later, Maron asserted: "The complete split-up of the Berlin city government will in all probability follow."

The city's assembly, or legislative council, already has split up. The anti-Communist members now meet in the British sector, where the Communist members refuse to join them. The anti-Communists moved out after the violent demonstrations late in August.

The Soviet-controlled Berlin magistrat announced that Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov, Soviet commandant, met with German politicians of the eastern sector and discussed food and coal prospects. It said Kotikov asserted again that the Russians were prepared to supply the entire city through the winter.

Up to now only one per cent of western zone Berliners have registered with the Soviets for such supplies.

The British-American airlift resumed operations at mid-morning today after an interruption of seven hours because of fog.

Walter Bedell Smith, U. S. ambassador to Moscow, has decided to remain in Berlin another day in his trip back from Paris. He is expected to leave here early tomorrow.

The clearing weather also brought another Soviet announcement of gunnery drills in the air corridor. The Soviets posted warnings of ground-to-air drills in the Bueckeburg corridor and air-to-air firing in the Hamburg corridor.

City Honors 'One-Man Army of Kirchain', Staff Sgt. Robert H. Dietz, Whose Body Will Return Friday; Won Honor Medal

Good Government Theme Is Chosen By Thomas Dewey

Teamwork and Courage Faith, Competency to Be Stressed in Missouri

En Route With Dewey to Kansas City, Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. Thomas L. Dewey picked a "good government" theme today in an attempt to cut Missouri's 15 "home base" electoral votes from under President Truman.

Turning temporarily away from the pounding he has been giving the Truman administration on the foreign front, the G.O.P. presidential nominee planned to talk on home problems in Kansas City tonight.

Announcing the topic of the talk, Paul Lockwood, the New York governor's secretary, said Dewey would "promise to bring to Washington a government that believes wholeheartedly in the American system of freedom; that knows where it is going; that practices teamwork; that has integrity; that is competent; and that has vision, faith and courage."

This large order seemed unlikely to prevent Dewey from alluding indirectly to President Truman's connection with the Kansas City Pendergast organization.

In an area embracing the district where Mr. Truman purged a Democratic congressional candidate in 1945 only to have his choice lose to a Republican, the New York governor was expected to bear down on ballot box integrity.

Senator Kem (R-Mo.) tried unsuccessfully for months to win a congressional investigation of Attorney General Clark's handling of the Kansas City vote frauds.

In the 1948 Democratic race President Truman backed Enos A. Axtell over incumbent Rep. Roger C. Slaughter in the fifth Missouri congressional district. Axtell won the nomination but lost to Republican Albert Reeves, Jr., in the general election.

Dewey scheduled Missouri stops at Joplin, Carthage, Monett and Springfield before his late afternoon arrival in Kansas City.

He spent yesterday in Oklahoma largely on a mission that even some of his friends thought was futile—an attempt to elect Rep. Ross Ritzley, Republican, as the next senator from Oklahoma.

The 51 to 45 margin the Republicans now hold in the Senate looks so shaky in this year's balloting that Dewey made 12 speeches—something of a record for him—in Oklahoma.

The consensus of local politicians was that while Dewey has some chance to carry Oklahoma, his margin would have to be larger than expected to pull Ritzley to victory with him over the latter's opponent, former Democratic Gov. Robert S. Kerr.

The Republican rub in this case is that Sen. Ed Moore, Republican, is retiring and a Democratic victory would help cut down the slim G.O.P. Senate margin.

In his trek across Oklahoma, Dewey talked mostly of world peace—with the clear implication that the chances of avoiding war would be much better if the Republicans gain control of the White House in November.

In Oklahoma City, he told one of the largest crowds of listeners in his campaign—estimated at 20,000 by Police Captain Tom Webb—that if he is elected he will free the government of the

Dietz Citation

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

The President of the United States takes pride in awarding the MEDAL OF HONOR posthumously to STAFF SERGEANT ROBERT H. DIETZ CO. A, 38th ARMORED INFANTRY BATTALION UNITED STATES ARMY for service as set forth in the following CITATION:

"Sergeant Dietz was a squad leader with Company A, 38th Armored Infantry Battalion, on 29 March 1945, when the task force to which his unit was attached encountered resistance in its advance on Kirchain, Germany. Between the town's outlying buildings three hundred yards distant and the stalled armored column were a mine field and two bridges defended by German rocket-launching teams and riflemen. From the town itself came heavy small arms fire. Moving forward with his men to protect engineers while they removed the minefield, and the demolition charges attached to the bridges, Sergeant Dietz came under intense fire. On his own initiative he advanced alone, scoring the bullets which struck all about him, until he was able to kill the bazooka team defending the first bridge. He continued ahead and had killed another bazooka team, bayoneted an enemy soldier armed with a panzerfaust and shot two more Germans when he was knocked to the ground by the blast of another panzerfaust. He quickly recovered, killed the man who had fired at him and then jumped into waist-deep water under the second bridge to disconnect the demolition charges. His work was completed; but as he stood up to signal that the route was clear he was killed by an enemy volley from the left flank. Sergeant Dietz by his intrepidity and valiant effort on his self-imposed mission, singlehandedly opened the road for the capture of Kirchain and left with his comrades an inspiring example of gallantry in the face of formidable odds."

He Led an Army

ROBERT H. DIETZ
In words of prophecy the 1940 Kingston High School Maroon, senior class yearbook, said simply of Staff Sgt. Robert H. Dietz, "one-man army of Kirchain," these fateful words: "We admire his quiet determination to accomplish whatever he undertakes to the best of his ability."

Dietz Will Lie in State During Week-end at Municipal Auditorium With Honor Guard

Cortege Is Formed

Many Organizations Are to Pay Tribute to Hero

The body of Staff Sergeant Robert H. Dietz, Kingston's No. 1 soldier of World War 2 who gave his life after singlehandedly opening the road for the capture of Kirchain, Germany, on March 29, 1945, will arrive in Kingston Friday afternoon aboard the 2:25 o'clock West Shore train for its final resting place.

Appropriate ceremonies, including a public memorial service to be held Sunday afternoon at the municipal auditorium, will pay fitting honor to Sergeant Dietz, the posthumous holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, the nation's highest award for gallantry in action.

The European Theatre of Operations veteran, who was the son of Herman O. Dietz and the late Mrs. Dietz, of 37 Abbey street, enlisted in the army March 22, 1942. Young Dietz was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievements August 22, 1944, and a month later was wounded when his company, a unit of the famed 7th Armored Division, stormed Metz.

Prior to his enlistment, Sergeant Dietz was graduated from Public School No. 5 in January, 1936, and later continued his studies at Kingston High School where he was graduated in 1940.

To Lie in State

The body of Sergeant Dietz, following its arrival Friday afternoon, will lie in state at the auditorium throughout the week-end with special honorary guards being supplied by the Kingston Veterans' Association.

The body of Sergeant Dietz will arrive in Kingston under the escort of Master Sergeant Hulon Wittington, the government escort, from New York City.

Units of Cortege

Included in the cortege to greet the body at the railroad station tomorrow afternoon will be a detail of 50 soldiers from West Point under the command of Major John Medusky. The cortege itself will form on Thomas street and will move over Broadway to the auditorium where the body will be in state until Sunday at 2 p. m. the hour set for the memorial service.

Units of the cortege will be as follows:

State Architects to Advise Use of City Home as Hospital

Final Work Nears Its Completion

Ontario Trail Section Is to Be Finished by Next Week

Final work on the paving of the nearly 10 miles of road on Route 28, The Ontario Trail, from West Hurley to Cold Brook is now in progress, the office of James S. Bixby, district engineer of the Division of Highways, State Department of Public Works at Poughkeepsie, reported today.

Through traffic on the route is possible now through the use of only one lane in some upper sections of the road, an engineer said, and all of the concrete pavement is expected to be completed by next week. The road should be completely open to through traffic by the end of this month, the report indicated.

Meanwhile, bids for a section of the Catskill section of the state thruway from Saugerties to the Greene county line, were opened this week by the state department, and a report on the bidding will be made soon.

The bid is for the laying of concrete over the route which is to consist of two 24-foot lanes and an intersecting where the route meets 212 at Saugerties. The contract will also include considerable bridge and culvert work. Some work has been completed on the shoulders of the newly completed section of Route 28, but this work and landscaping is not expected to be finished until next spring.

Officers Review Ways to Prevent Second Sneak Raid

Key Figures Hold Parley With MacArthur on Strategy at Tokyo

Tokyo, Oct. 14 (AP)—American commanders in the Pacific and Alaska discussed measures, to prevent another Pearl Harbor in a series of top secret conferences with General Douglas MacArthur ending today.

The problem of Pacific defenses brought together key officers of the Army, Navy and Air Force guarding the northwestern and far eastern frontiers of the United States.

Air Force Lt. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, commanding the Alaska defenses, and Vice Admiral John L. McCrea, deputy commander of the U. S. Pacific Fleet, met with General MacArthur for three days.

They met within view of Japan's Imperial Palace grounds—just across the moat from the big white building housing Allied Headquarters—where the Dec. 7, 1941, attack on the U. S. Pacific Fleet received final sanction.

Three Are Killed In Area Crashes

Woman, Daughter Victims on Route 17; Man Dies at Hudson

Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—A mother and her 11-month-old daughter were killed last night and the husband and father seriously injured when their car struck a tree on Route 17 north of here.

The dead were Mrs. Virginia Ann Richardson and her daughter, Linda. The injured man was Donald Richardson. The family was en route from its home in Thruway to Nyack where Mrs. Richardson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paske, live.

Police said the Richardson car went off the highway on the shoulder of the road, swung back to the highway after glancing against a telephone pole and then smashed head-on against a tree.

Richardson, taken to Horton Hospital here, was described as an accountant for the Grange League Federation.

Montreal Man Killed

Hudson, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Vivian Grant, 31, of Montreal, was killed today when their automobile left Route 9 and struck a tree 12 miles south of Hudson.

Grant's brother, Joseph, 37, and Cyril Worrell, 45, both of Montreal, suffered head injuries. They are in Hudson City Hospital.

Sadie McLean, 30, of Montreal, was treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises and discharged.

Coroner Dewey Lawrence said Vivian Grant was driving the car and apparently had fallen asleep. He withheld a verdict pending further investigation.

State Department Reviews Closing Martinique Office

By RUTH COWAN
Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—Because of military objections, the State Department is giving new thought to its recently announced decision to close the U. S. consulate in Martinique, strongly Communist French island in the Caribbean.

Department officials said privately today Martinique's listing in the September announcement was premature. The department said that six consular posts, among them Martinique, were being closed, mainly for economy reasons.

"No final decision has been made in regard to Martinique," one official said.

He added that further meetings will be held to consider protests against padlocking the consulate on what military authorities are known to regard as a weak link in the Caribbean defenses. These

Van Mook Quits

Indonesian Leader Will End Service Nov. 1, Dutch Say

Barbados, Oct. 14 (AP)—Dutch officials announced today the resignation of Hubertus J. Van Mook as governor general of Indonesia, effective November 1. The officials said acceptance of the resignation had not yet been received from the Hague.

Government sources at the Hague said last night Van Mook's resignation had been accepted by the cabinet. The name of his successor was not announced.

It was generally expected that former Prime Minister Dr. Louis van Mook would become high commissioner to Indonesia when the Indonesian government is set up around the end of November. It is considered possible he might serve the last weeks of the governor general's term.

Bridge Authority Chairman Follows Suggestion of Senator Wickes

Robert Hoe, chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority, said Wednesday that he will propose a reduction in commutation rates for the Mid-Hudson Bridge, according to an article in the Poughkeepsie New Yorker.

Hoe's announcement followed a suggestion made Monday in The Freeman to that effect by State Senator Arthur H. Wickes of this city, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. Senator Wickes pointed out that since the bridge is used by more people from out of the area than within, he saw no reason why those who patronize the bridge daily would not get consideration on an application to the bridge authority for a lower commutation rate.

Hoe said he would recommend that the commutation toll be reduced to 10 cents from the present 15 cents on the 60-trip book. He recalled that he had proposed the same reduction in commuter rates in May of this year. At that time the former three-man authority tabled the proposal. Last August the authority was increased from three to five members.

Present members of the bridge authority, in addition to Chairman Hoe, are James Loughran of this city, Dr. John L. Edwards of Hudson, George W. Pratt of Ilghland, and Neal Brandow of West Coxsackie.

Complete elimination of tolls on the Mid-Hudson Bridge, Mr. Hoe said he believed would be a matter for the state legislature to decide and is not within the power of the bridge authority.

John R. Crossley, vice-president of the Automobile Club of New York, said Wednesday that his organization favors removal of the tolls on all bridges and other facilities in the public highway system.

He stated that, "in view of the fact that the state is diverting revenue derived by motor vehicle taxation to non-highway purposes, we recommend the immediate removal of the present tolls on all state-owned and operated bridges."

Says Fund Is Short

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—G.O.P. National Committee Chairman Hugh D. Scott, Jr., says the national Republican campaign fund is still $1,500,000 short of its goal. Scott said yesterday the national committee's quota was $3,000,000 with another $400,000 needed for the senatorial campaigns and $800,000 to aid congressional candidates. "We need the money and we need it early," he told 200 volunteer Republican finance committee workers for the New York city area.

General Teng Sees Battle in Two Weeks

Nanking, Oct. 14 (AP)—The government's determination for a showdown on the Manchurian and Shantung waterfronts will bring a decisive battle within two weeks, Lt. Gen. Teng Wen-Yi said today.

General Teng is the official government spokesman.

He said the national government is no longer concerned with the loss or recapture of any city or point as before.

"To annihilate the bulk of the Communist armies, government troops have gradually gained the initiative for assaults by concentrating scattered units," he said.

Refitting Approved

Power Plants, Anglo Ships Will Be Standardized With U. S. Navy

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—The British Express said today the British cabinet has approved refitting every British fighting ship to standardize power plants with those of the United States Navy.

The purpose, the Express said, is to enable the Royal Navy to use American "radar and secret devices" which will not operate on the 50-cycle frequency generating machinery of British ships. U. S. Navy generators work at 60 cycles.

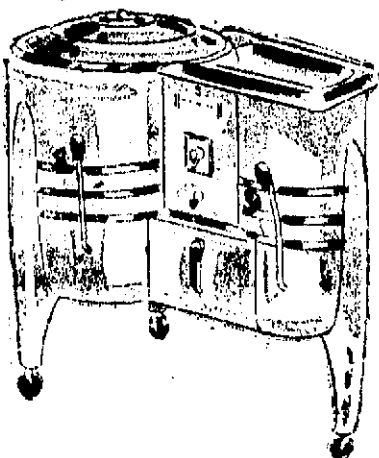

The Admiralty refused to confirm or deny the report.

Chapman Pincher, Express science correspondent, wrote that the cabinet approved the standardization move so the Admiralty might "buy freely in the American armament market in an emergency."

"Big orders," he wrote, have already been placed.

MORE THAN WORDS NEEDED

Belgium's Premier Spaak thinks there is too much "open diplomacy" in the United Nations. We don't know that we agree with Mr. Spaak's choice of phrase. But we do agree with his complaint that the United Nations is being used too much as a sounding board for propaganda.

There is nothing wrong with open diplomacy as such. The Wilsonian ideal of "open covenants openly arrived at," though never fully realized, is still a worthy goal.

What Mr. Spaak obviously objects to are the uses to which open diplomacy is being put. He says that debate in the UN does not have the healthy spontaneity it had three years ago. Instead, the delegates have become conscious of the world coverage of their remarks that will reach millions of readers. This offers a terrible temptation to indulge in propaganda, the premier points out.

He was referring, of course, to the speeches in which representatives of Russian-bloc countries and the western democracies have charged each others' governments with desiring and preparing for war. These charges have been made in blunt, in-temperate words and, in the case of Russia, with that disregard for truth that is the trademark of propaganda.

There is no denying that a threat to the peace exists. But a succession of angry speeches will do nothing to remove it. On the contrary, such speeches can only fill the minds of millions all over the world with dread and resignation.

Very often it is not the fire itself, but the cry of "Fire!" that starts a fatal panic. Very often it is not an organic ailment but apprehension that reveals itself in the symptoms of a serious disease. Panic and apprehension, we believe, can also help breed war.

Mr. Spaak offers no remedy for this situation in the UN. He says only that some "more moderate system" must be developed to replace the abuses of open diplomacy without resorting to secret diplomacy.

Perhaps there is no set of rules that can change the present situation. But this much is clear. The people of the world do not want war. They are not planning war. They may approve or disapprove their governments' policies, but they have no eager desire to kill one another to prove a point.

The threat of war, the prevention of war and the fate of the world rest not with the world's people, but with the delegates in Paris and their superiors at home. The source of trouble is Russia's aggressive ambitions. But the solution is in the hands of man.

Enough angry words have been spoken and recorded and read. The need now is for wisdom and realism. And the time is growing short.

The total registration for the November election in New York City is disappointingly low. According to different statements given on this low registration is favorable to Dewey, to Truman and to Wallace. Everybody is happy.

LONG-LIVED LADIES

It is 39 years since the late Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt was First Lady of the land. This was not a record-breaking figure for an ex-president's wife. Mrs. James K. Polk outlived her stay in the White House by 42 years, and Mrs. John Tyler by 44. Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, who died last January, was married after her husband had left the presidency; her death did not come until 55 years after the end of his term. Mrs. James A. Garfield almost equaled Mrs. Roosevelt's record. She survived her husband, who died while he was President, by 37 years.

No other former president has lived as long as John Adams, who holds the record with 25 years as an ex-president. This was due largely to his living until he was 90, another presidential record. Millard Fillmore's and Martin Van Buren's 21 years after leaving office are the next best.

Why do ex-presidents fail to live as long as their wives? Is it merely because they

SPAIN

Our major problem now and until we are certain that war is not immediately possible is preparation for war. This is a tragic fact of our national existence, which only the myopic can ignore. They wishfully project ideas and schemes which are the luxuries of peace; we are faced by the grim facts of imminent war. For our people, it means delay in progressive reforms; it means that we shall be forced to continue to bear the burden of high taxes, shortages of goods, the maintenance of an excessive military establishment and the climate of crisis. For our youth, it means interrupted education, the rechanneling of careers, of delayed or inappropriate marriages. It is not a pleasant thought, but it is a fact.

Preparation for war involves a search for bases and allies. Geography forces upon us unchangeable facts, namely the logistics of a war which must be fought in Europe and Asia; on land, in the air, and under the sea. New areas enter into such a war with startling vehemence. For instance, the shortest distance between the United States and Soviet Russia is across the North Pole; the entire Arctic region, which has never been involved in the wars of mankind, may become even more important than the Mediterranean. Alaska is now a key point.

Our bases in Europe must be in Great Britain, France and Spain. Ultimately, we shall be forced to use Spain as much as the Spanish government will permit us because the Iberian Peninsula remains the best base for the best entrance to Europe. The British Isles do not provide ample leverage; France may itself be an invaded country. In Asia, Japan will be our principal base, although North China and Manchuria would have been much better. But aggressively invaded and held by Soviet Russia and we shall undoubtedly find ourselves fighting on Chinese soil as we shall again be fighting in France.

God grant that none of this happen, but a wise nation is never caught with a Pearl Harbor twice in her history. Usually, there is no second chance. Our necessity then is to face the horrifying facts now and to hope that the preparations prove futile. It is sounder to waste preparedness than to bury our sons. It is even cheaper.

From this standpoint, it is now essential that the American people recognize the fact that we have to do business with France in Spain. We need Spain. France controls Spain. That is all we need to know about it.

For years, France has been denounced as a Fascist and I assume that he is one. Certainly he does not operate what we have learned to call a Democratic government. Neither did Stalin in 1933 when Roosevelt recognized Soviet Russia, nor in 1941 when we joined Russia as an ally; nor in the subsequent years when we gave Russia $11,000,000,000. Too late, the American people recognized that there is no essential difference between the totalitarianism of Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini or, for that matter, Franco. When we were fighting Germany and Japan, we were willing to do business with Russia. That was doubly crossed by Stalin but the argument of those who insisted upon our alliance with the Godless, Asiatic, materialistic Russians was that we needed them to kill Germans. Today we need Spain in our preparedness for war against Russia. The deeper we plow through the mire of European politics, the more "futile" we have to take our attacks on Franco prove to be, it is part of that situation.

There does not seem to be any alternative to this proposition, and the United States had better not waste time concerning it. The time between war and peace may be short or long, but the time for preparation is immediate. Even effective preparedness is no longer a guarantee against war, but it is a better guarantee against a diplomatic negotiation and ending the Chief Justice of the United States to placate Stalin. Spain is an item in preparedness. (Copyright, 1948, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

TREATMENT OF ASTHMA

One of the distressing ailments that the physician of former years had to treat as best he could, because the cause was unknown, was asthma.

The patient coughed and coughed until he was able to cough up a little plug of mucus from one of the small tubes carrying air into and out of the lungs. Fortunately, though the efforts of coughing often were exhausting, very few patients died from an attack. When it was over, the patient rested for a period and was free of symptoms until the next attack occurred, which might be days, weeks or months later.

Today, the commonest cause of asthma is known to be allergy, sensitiveness to various substances. The treatment involves learning why a particular individual is liable to attacks from a certain substance or group of substances. In "Minnesota Medicine," Dr. T. Laird states that while the search for the substance causing asthma is under way by the various tests, other conditions or circumstances that may be partly to blame for the attacks should be sought. Worries about financial and family affairs may depress the patient's ability to fight the allergic substance, so that he is more readily attacked.

It is necessary for the patient to avoid mental disturbance, but it is also necessary to maintain the best possible conditions for general bodily health. Fresh air and exercise, adequate periods of rest, well planned diets, extra vitamins, and vaccines, and avoidance of fatigue are all helpful measures. Not that all these helpful measures will prevent attacks, but they will enable the patient to withstand the shock and shaking-up caused by attacks of asthma.

Whatever the cause of an attack—allergy, emotional disturbance, defects of the nose and throat or others—the immediate and most effective treatment of an attack is by adrenalin or epinephrine, a hypodermic injection of 7 to 10 minims (drops) of a solution of 1 to 1,000. Drops of a stronger solution on a handkerchief and inhaled by the patient also are effective.

In cases of high blood pressure and heart disease, other methods of treatment may be necessary, such as quieting drugs.

Another effective treatment is the use of an ether enema. Two ounces of ether in 4 ounces of olive oil, placed in the rectum and held there for a time, sometimes will cure an attack when other methods fail or are not available.

Asthma, Causes and Treatment

The cause or causes of asthma were unknown until recently. Now that it is known that allergy, nose and throat defects, emotional disturbances can cause the attacks, most asthmatics can be helped. usually are older, and because women tend to live longer than men? Perhaps it is simply that the management of the White House, which falls to the lady's lot, hard as it may be, is not so wearing as the cares of the nation which are the responsibility of her husband.

What a Honeymoon!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round
By Drew Pearson

Washington—Election year always brings grey hairs and stomach ulcers to newspaper columnists. It is a season when, no matter what you say, one side or the other jumps on you; when editors get sore, blue-pencil columnists or throw you out of the paper.

Most newspapers—and their readers—are quite happy to have you turn the spotlight on every act and habit of the President of the United States during every minute of his term of office. He is considered fair game, with a year-round open season. And the result is that the American public now knows who kind of gaffers Mr. Truman wears, how much money he has saved in office, his favorite cuss-words, what kind of poker he plays, and how many shots he fired as an artillery captain in World War I. In fact, there is almost nothing—good or bad—that we don't know about him.

But, as election time rolls round, you will note that a kindly generous film diffuses most of the newspaper spotlights that focus upon Truman's rival, Governor Dewey. The tendency is to give him kid-glove consideration. There are two reasons for this: 1. About 75 per cent of the newspapers have announced for Dewey. 2. Dewey is certain to win, and it's only natural to want to be on the side of the winner. My own feelings about Dewey have been a matter of public record for a long time. As early as October 1946, when most Republicans were claiming he could never overcome the G.O.P. jinx of having been defeated once, I categorically predicted that he would be the next Republican nominee. I also appraised him, on the eve of the Philadelphia Convention, as the ablest of all the Republican candidates next to Governor Warren.

I also predicted in May 1948 that Harry Truman would not carry one state north of the Mason-Dixon line and would lose two states below it. (Since then I have revised his southern loss downward to four.) It also happens that I like Dewey. (Most news reporters don't.) My wife says it's because we have a common bond—cows. Both of us try to run dairy farms.

For two years I used to rib Dewey about the high bacteria count of his milk. Now my cows have bugs disease and he can rib me.

It also happens that Harry Truman doesn't like me. This is no secret to anyone. He has expressed his ill-will both privately, in many cabinet meetings, and publicly in press conferences in vigorous vitriolic language.

Truman's Uphill Fight

Nevertheless, I can't help but admire the spunky uphill fight Truman is putting up; and I can't help but think also that the American public has a right to know the issues on the Republican side much more fully than it is getting them today.

Election land-slides can be dangerous. I have always thought that the country might have been better off if Franklin Roosevelt had not won by such tremendous landslides in 1936 and 1940. It made his administration too confident, too inclined to ride roughshod over the opposition.

Furthermore, the American public should be like the smart lawyer who collects his fee when his client's tears are hot. Before a lawsuit—or an election—a client or a candidate is much more amenable to paying for his victory. So this is the time for voters to collect their election promises—not after November 2. This is also the time for them to find out exactly what the issues are and what the candidates are like. We already know pretty much all there is to know about Harry Truman. We know that he is inept, warm-hearted, impulsive, sincere, courageous, human, likeable, a poor picker of men, inclined to lose his temper, shoots from the hip, has a fine set of principles, but is tragically inefficient at carrying them out.

Dewey's Unknown Record

We also know that Dewey is cool, calculating, careful, highly efficient, has an excellent record in New York, a temper like Truman's, though he's learned to keep it under control; is vain, and for that reason will take great pride in making a good record as president.

But we do not know a lot of other things about Dewey that we already know about Truman and that we ought to know about the next president of the United States.

For instance, a great many people are asking what Dewey's record is. Dewey was not Governor of New York or even District Attorney when war broke with Japan. But for some strange reason you will find not one word in the press about his record.

I for one do not consider it necessary for a man to have served in the war to become President. Perhaps we have placed too much emphasis on the idea that a candidate must be a veteran before he can hold public office. But I do think it's important that the public have a right to know what the record is, and if you ask the head of Governor Dewey's draft board, he will tell you that the record is confidential.

Furthermore, it's important that the public know who the big contributors are on both sides, that they understand what his business expects to get out of this election, and that they force a full discussion on the basic issues. Especially, it's important for the public to scrutinize the candidates for Congress and pick a good Congress.

Dewey is sure to be elected, and I predict he will be a first-rate President. But the American people, including Republican leaders themselves, can help make him a better President by forcing all the issues into the open now, by collecting their pledges while the candidates' tears are hot.

In future columns I shall attempt to discuss some of these facts and issues. And I predict that, by the time I'm finished, both sides will be sore as blazes and my editors ready to chuck me out of the paper.

Cars Also May Suffer From Acid Stomachs

New York City—Ninety per cent of engine wear in your automobile may be due to the action of acids and not friction, Shell Oil Co. research scientists report.

In short trips about town—to the office, the bank, and shopping—the average motorist runs his engine for brief periods of time only, said C. E. Davis, vice-president in charge of manufacturing. "When the engine is thus intermittently on and off, it runs 'cold,' with the result that combustion may be incomplete and partially burned fuel gases and moisture attack the smoothly polished metal surfaces chemically. It is this type of acid action that accounts for up to 90 per cent of engine wear."

Research is seeking means of preventing the acid action, and thus add years to the life of the engine.

Supreme Court is Regarded As Doing Very Thing Roosevelt Complained About in 1937
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 14—While all the political campaigners are telling the country how terrible the Democrats or Republicans happen to be, no one ventures to remind the country that it is witnessing in the behavior of the present Supreme Court exactly what the late President Roosevelt inveighed against in 1937.

Mr. Roosevelt contended that the old court was "legislating," that it was usurping the function of Congress by writing laws instead of interpreting them. Then the hand of fate gave Mr. Roosevelt a chance to appoint the majority of a new court.

Now the Supreme Court, despite the urgent pleas of unions and employers who joined hands in desiring a uniform interpretation, has ruled that the determination of what constitutes a regular rate of pay and an overtime rate of pay were not to be decided by management and union labor in their contracts but by the courts.

The issue arose over premium and bonus pay usually paid for night work or work after certain hours or on holidays. Congress intended to maintain the custom in industry, which is that, in order to figure overtime after 40 hours, the regular rate of pay for regular hours of work is used. The Supreme Court, however, totalling up all the compensation paid a worker within the 40-hour week, including bonuses and premium pay for night work or irregular shifts, and then divided by 40 to get what the court believed should be the regular rate per hour. Obviously this made overtime rates of time-and-a-half not only larger for some employees than others in the same plant but made it virtually impossible for unions to write into their contracts any uniform method of computing wages rates where premium pay or unusual shifts were involved.

It was precisely this sort of irresponsibility which led the present majority on the Supreme Court to say, in the "portal to portal" fiasco, that a worker who walked a few yards inside a plant before he started the day's work was really beginning his 40-hour period and that overtime would be computed on all time in excess of such a work week. Congress had to pass a special law to override this legislation written brazenly by the Supreme Court, and thus a legalistic scheme to ex-

New York, Oct. 13—After Felix Frankfurter and his clique and clique of Happy Hot Dogs had lobbied through his nomination for the Supreme Court where he could give direct force to his extraordinary deference to public opinion in Russia under Trotsky the butcher, he was "invited" down to Washington to tell the Senate Judiciary Committee about himself.

"I, of course, do not wish to testify in support of my own nomination," said the modest little fellow who was to push his man, Stimson, into the War Department and his man, Alger Hiss, into the State Department, which sent him to Yale to study with Roosevelt and Stalin when they turned out the light on Godly civilization.

Frankfurter thought it would be improper of a nominee to express personal views on controversial issues, having said which, he bashfully showered himself with new-laundered laurel. His own great virtue was a non-controversial topic, of course. He was an effective, if not subtle, name-dropper and said he had "served under President (Theodore) Roosevelt and happened to enjoy as thousands of others did, his very kind and encouraging friendship."

By way of expression of his great trust in the honor and character of Frankfurter, T. R. had

Group Would Keep Record Straight on Education Matters

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Formation of a statewide group to "keep the record straight on education" was announced today through the Dewey-Warren Citizens Committee.

The chairman of the committee, Mrs. M. Emma Hilton, dean of women at Syracuse University, said in a statement:

"The fact which has been developed should assure all of us that New York state, under the leadership of Gov. Dewey, has responded to a national need and has taken adequate steps to support and advance public education."

During the past year and campaign, speakers have been charged by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's Republican administration with insufficient state aid to education and contending New York's educational system ranks too low among the states.

Formation of the new group—the New York State Civil Liberties Committee on Education—was announced by George H. Hilton, general chairman of professional and citizens groups quartered at the Dewey-Warren Citizens Committee offices.

Mrs. Hilton said the committee, composed of more than 700 educators, students and other citizens, will campaign "for the future of free education in the state of New York, and against its exploitation for political purposes at the hands of any party."

The group quoted James Marshall, former president of the New York City Board of Education, who made a study of education in the state, as saying:

"The essential truth is that the state of New York has done more for public education in the last six years (during Dewey's administration) than at any time since 1927."

The committee, which will distribute copies of the Marshall analysis, said it cites what the committee calls "teacher salary increases, New York's outstanding program of G.I. colleges and housing, the steps taken to found a state university, the new state-supported technical schools, and the new formula of state aid for education which has boosted state payments to local school districts to $182,000,000 a year—$80,000,000 more than would have been paid under the old formula."

As Pegler Sees It

by Frankfurter and Landis. He was originally an anthropologist but was graduated from Harvard Law in 1931. He is now on leave from Harvard Law to serve as general counsel of the European Recovery Administration. Landis and Katz were pupils and protégés of Frankfurter. Katz was picked to guarantee that neither unfairness, favoritism nor prejudice should sully the administration. The Frankfurter tradition would tend to fortify a man against these weaknesses. Good thing, too, Reassuring.

Kenneth C. Royall, now secretary of the army, was a Harvard Law graduate of 1917. Thus the great tradition is carried on even though the War Department, as such, has been abolished. First such was Stimson, who was 73 years old in 1940 when Felix wangled him in, three years above the age at which the Roosevelt clique during the court-packing fight would have superseded a supreme court justice on grounds of senile dilapidation. He was 78 when he got out. At that age if a supreme court justice didn't resign to make room for the fine integrity of a Frankfurter, a Murphy or an Alabama "barn-burner," they were fixing to take him down to the wood-lot and shoot him.

The next secretary of war was Frankfurter's old Harvard law friend, Robert Patterson, a Republican who got a case of galloping insanity during the war and in 1944 announced that he was going to support "Roosevelt—that is, vote Democratic. Not that he had to tell anyone. After he said that he only knew that the Lincoln Brigade in Spain were brave fighters against Fascism and didn't know they were Communists, he didn't have to tell. It was alarming to some citizens to learn that a fellow who was in reality the effective or acting head of the War Department in the greatest war in history, and with the Army Intelligence, the F.B.I. and many other sources of information, didn't know that this Lincoln Brigade was a Communist army. It seemed on the strange side. However, they raise them that way at Harvard Law. And that way is smart. Clever. They don't know a Communist when they see one, which has been pretty nice for the Communists.

Now the War Department is gone, but the Department of the Army is the outfit that will have charge of the indoctrination of the young men who will be called up for the Roosevelt Memorial War. As to whether Mr. Royall believes in the doctrine that was taught the troops under Stimson and Patterson we have still to learn. That doctrine was that anyone who hated Communists was a Fascist and anyone who exposed and fought Roosevelt's criminal union-busters was an enemy of labor.

Mr. Royall made colonel in the second war, which is pretty high but still a grade under the rank of that dashing soldier from Harvard Law, another Frankfurter, Happy Hot Dog, Brig.-Gen. Telford Taylor, the great avenging sword of the civilized nations in the Nuremberg trials. He is now just 40 years young. A prodigy! The dashing general did his dashing in the corridors of the law departments.

Brigadier-General Telford Taylor is a military genius from Harvard Law and a warrior in the great tradition of Felix Frankfurter. He is an old Washington hand, young though he be. Served in the old A.A.A. under Jerome Frank. Married a niece of Jim Landis. Federal Communications Commission. All that sort of thing. Nothing wrong with Telford Taylor, of Harvard Law. (Copyright, 1948, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Berlin: World's No. 1 Bogey

(This is the second of three stories written by The Associated Press staff in Berlin to describe the situation in that blockaded city.)
By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY and TOM KREDDY

Berlin, Oct. 14 (AP)—Imagine living in a city where, if you step outside certain boundaries, you will be arrested.

Imagine living in a city where all your food and other supplies are dependent on an air lift. Where you have lights a few hours in the morning and a few hours at night. Where simple, everyday items such as candles are rationed. Where winter is coming on and the prospect for sufficient coal is dim. Where war is not out of the realm of possibility.

Blockade nerves are beginning to show in Berlin.

Irritability is perhaps the most frequent indication.

How will the Germans come through the winter?

All right, say the western allies. Better than they survived the 1941-42 winter when they were cold and hungry and pounded by bombs.

This view is given by American military government officials who point out the food and coal brought in by air since the Russians began the blockade squeeze last June.

The average German gets a basic daily ration of 1,608 calories. Heavy workers get a top ration of 2,285 and housewives, 1,638.

The average American receives about 3,000 calories daily. The food of heavy workers, such as lumberjacks, may total up to 8,000. The average Briton received 2,800 calories daily in the first six months of 1948.

Will the Berlin ration level be maintained throughout the winter?

W. T. Babcock, deputy U. S. commandant in Berlin and former New London, Conn., police chief, thinks so.

Food administration men of the three western powers are meeting now to plan an increase in caloric content of the German diet without increasing its weight.

Coal Biggest Problem

The biggest problem is coal. Germans are going to have a mighty cold winter unless more planes can be added to the airlift. The old warming halls—public places where one came to get the chill out of his bones—probably will be revived.

Many Germans are preparing to augment their fuel supplies. They comb the parks for dead timber and tree stumps.

The western allies apparently have taken note, and an extensive wood-cutting program has been ordered for the western sectors of the city.

The wood-cutting program will continue through October to January 31, but all timber taken will not be for fuel. Some will be kept for seasoning and used in housing construction.

This is the way the western sectors rationed coal last winter.

A single individual got 500 pounds. There were five distributions of 100 pounds each. A family of three got 900, and those with families of five or more got 1,100.

Babcock says that the reasonably good fall weather has enabled the laying by of a small cushion of coal, but far from enough.

So, Babcock adds, the coal ration may be less than half of 1947.

At present airlift planes are bringing in about 4,500 tons of coal daily and altogether have delivered 144,000 tons. This is not enough to duplicate the 1947 ration.

May Not Be Hopeless

It may not be hopeless, though. New airstrips at Tempelhof and Steglitz should be ready in December. More planes are being sought.

Under blockade conditions the health of the German has remained surprisingly good. A British report said flatly that there has been "no apparent effect."

One helpful factor is the abundance of drugs.

One of the major concerns is what to do about German business and industry. It has been clipped hard by the Soviet control of two of the city's largest power plants.

Already it has retrenched by a third. Reserves of raw materials are being exhausted.

There has been some new unemployment, but not as much as had been expected.

Military government said figures were hard to get and analyze because (1) many jobless did not register as such, (2) most places spread out the work, reduced the hours of all employees so that layoff could be prevented. This way, each worker, while earning less, still would have enough for a living.

As part of a "made work" program instituted by the Germans, thousands are toiling part-time clearing bomb rubble, or plugging up holes in damaged buildings.

Thousands have been absorbed in the airport runway construction program.

The best figure at which the Americans could arrive on unemployment is 141,000 at the start of October. This is slightly lower than a month earlier.

None of these problems confronts the German in the Soviet sector. There the 1,200,000 can be supplied in the normal way from the Russian zone.

Started to Cut Staffs

The Americans and British, anticipating a pinch, started to cut their staffs months ago. The French have moved out all but essential personnel. The American military government staff has been cut from 2,600 to 1,200 since the first of the year. Gen. Clay expects the 1,200 to remain static.

Dependents are down to a low of about 1,000.

Although the diet inclines toward monotony, food for the allied people remains adequate and good.

Transportation is—and will be—tough to get for everyone, both Germans and the western allies.

It is necessary to shut down the German subway system at 6 p. m. The street railways stop at 11 p. m. Only the affluent have gasoline for private cars.

There is no joy-riding, even for the American. He will get only five gallons of gasoline a month for personal use. When that is consumed, he'll use a bus, a German train, or walk.

The transportation problem has prompted the military govern-

322 Placed in Farm Jobs Here During September

The Kingston office of the New York State Employment Service placed 322 persons in farm jobs during September, George J. Stanton, manager, reported today.

Industrial placements for the month, however, were only 105 as against 116 in August and only 40 were placed in farm jobs during that month.

The report for September showed a total of 2,231 visits to the office and of these 787 were females and 519 veterans. New applicants totaled 126, with 56 females and 17 veterans.

The office referred 183 to industrial jobs, including 87 females and 48 veterans, and 344 were referred to farm jobs.

The report includes Saugerties, which no longer has a branch office, and the active files for the month contained 633 names, 200 females and 204 veterans.

The oldest daily newspaper now published in the United States is the Alexandria, Virginia Gazette.

WESTFIELD MAID PLAN

How Westfield Maid Grape Juice helped Mrs. Ceike lose 32% of her excess weight to win a more attractive figure, without exercises, drastic diet or drugs.

THIRTY-THREE POUNDS OVERWEIGHT Mrs. Ceike is photographed on the left above before joining the Westfield Maid Plan for Weight Control; and on the right 30 days later after having lost 9 lbs. "My overall weight loss," says Mrs. Ceike, "is especially apparent in my waist and hips. My dress has changed from a 20 to a more snug size 14. The Westfield Maid Plan made me a slimmer and I can truthfully say I have never felt better."

Unretouched photos prove Westfield Maids don't lie

MADE REDUCING A PLEASURE. All Mrs. Ceike did to lose 9 pounds in 30 days was to drink a glass of half water and half full-strength, pasteurized Westfield Maid pure Concord Grape Juice, as an appetite stimulant, before meals, to substitute it for her 10 A.M. and 3 P.M. snacks, and to repeat its use a half hour after each of these periods.

NO CRAVING FOR FATTENING FOODS. Mrs. Ceike reports that Westfield Maid Grape Juice completely satisfied her appetite with less food and that she could comfortably omit fattening foods for which she formerly had a craving.

HER HEALTH IS EXCELLENT. Before and after physical examination and electrocardiogram, under competent medical supervision, disclosed her health to be as excellent now as it was the day Mrs. Ceike started on the easy Westfield Maid Plan for Weight Control.

HER WEIGHT LOSS BELOW AVERAGE. Mrs. Ceike's experience is not unusual. Clinical tests under the supervision of New York medical consultant Doctor Frederic Damrau, reveal that the average weight loss of a woman tested was 10 pounds per month, that the caloric intake was reduced, and further, that the health of all women tested was maintained or improved.

WHY WESTFIELD MAID GRAPE JUICE? Be sure you use pure, full-strength, pasteurized Westfield Maid Grape Juice, used exclusively in these tests. Prepared only from vine-ripened Concord Grapes, Westfield Maid Grape Juice naturally contains a different kind of sugar called dextrose which is identical with your own blood sugar, is quickly assimilated, helps your body consume excess fat. In addition, it provides increased energy and contains Vitamins B and C. Westfield Maid Grape Juice provides more energy value than grapefruit, orange or pineapple juices.

Get Westfield Maid Grape Juice at your grocery, drug, or department store today. Westfield Maid Grape Juice is the safe, sane, simple way to weight control; also a most delicious, healthful beverage for your whole family.

There will be a social hour at 6 p. m., dinner at 6:30 and the business meeting at 7:30 p. m. The speaker will be Alex J. Newspaper Ads Are Chief Factor In Sales Success

HOWARD C. SMITH

Newspaper advertising was acknowledged as one of the chief factors in the success of Jolly Time Pop Corn by Howard C. Smith, president of the American Pop Corn Company.

"Of all the advertising we use," Mr. Smith said, "there is much we would do without before we would consider dropping our newspaper advertising."

"Sales surveys show that in places where Jolly Time Pop Corn is continually advertised, it is also first in sales," he said. "We could ask for no better proof of the power of consistent newspaper advertising than what is reflected in our sales records."

This season will see the largest advertising campaign in the history of Jolly Time Pop Corn—for that matter, in the history of any pop corn. Over 1700 newspapers in all parts of the country will carry Jolly Time ads. "We have increased our newspaper advertising each year, and each year our sales have shown a corresponding increase. We are now so firmly convinced of the effectiveness of newspaper advertising," Mr. Smith said, "that we have entirely discontinued the use of one advertising medium in order to increase our newspaper advertising."

Catawba Indians Acquire New Cottages in South

Rock Hill, S. C., (AP)—Brighter days are ahead for a once-powerful, now almost defunct Indian tribe, the Catawbas. Tribe members are moving from their weatherbeaten huts on 600 acres of worn-out land along the banks of the Catawba river into brand new cottages on 3,600 acres of fertile land near here.

The change came with transfer of the Indians two years ago from state to federal government supervision. State supervision was a hangover from a peace treaty between the state and the tribe made almost 150 years ago. The Catawba nation lists 350 surviving members who are being moved as they apply for land in the new

Occupants Escape Uninjured When Auto Overturns

Two occupants of an auto which overturned early this morning a mile west of Centerville, town of Lloyd on Route 200, escaped uninjured, according to the state police at Ellensburg.

The car, owned by Samuel E. Rising, of 80 North Hamilton street, Poughkeepsie, was operated by his son, Robert E. Rising, 22, of the same address. It was headed west on the route and riding with the driver was Carl Albertson, 25, of 25 South Water street, Poughkeepsie.

The car went up an embankment and overturned against a telephone pole when its lights failed, at about 2:45 a. m., the police said.

Fifty-seven of the tribe's 92 known families have made application for tracts of land ranging from one to 30 acres, and others are planning to apply. Many already have moved. The land is free and tax exempt, but the new homes must be paid for by the families taking them.

Only 25 for the Catawbas are classified by the federal Indian service as full-blooded. And only four, including retired Chief Sam Blue, still speak the Catawba language. Most of the adults have jobs in textile mills nearby, while their children attend white schools here and in other school districts.

Judge Swygert Declares I.T.U. in Contempt of Court

Indianapolis, Oct. 14 (AP)—Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert today held the International Typographical Union in contempt of court and ordered the union to abide by his injunction in dealing with employers.

The judge set no penalty for the contempt, but ordered the officers of the union to appear in court within ten days to show that they have complied with the court decree.

The judge's opinion said the union has attempted to discriminate against newspaper employees in violation of the Taft-Hartley Law and contrary to the court's injunction in making contracts. He ordered that this be discontinued.

The court action today was a victory for the attorney for the National Labor Relations Board, who had asked the judge to hold the printers' union in contempt. The judge ordered today that the union should not discriminate against non-members in its contracts.

Alaska Election for Territorial Offices

Juneau, Alaska, Oct. 14 (AP)—Democrats continued to pile up wide leads for major territorial offices today in the Alaska election.

Congressional Delegate E. L. Bartlett, a Democrat who sits in Congress without a vote, held a lead of 11,803 to 3,511 over his Republican opponent, R. H. Stock of Anchorage, with 73 of the territory's 225 precincts reported.

J. Gerald Williams, Democratic candidate for attorney general, was leading Republican Almer J. Peterson 9,005 to 5,633. Frank A. Boyle, incumbent Democratic auditor, led Republican Albert E. Goetz 9,333 to 4,973 in his bid for reelection.

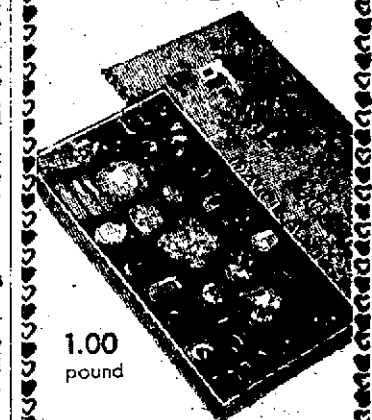

The territory was strongly on record in favor of abolishing fish traps. The vote was 13,452 to 1,648. The vote does not have the force of law, but will be merely a recommendation to Congress for gradual removal of the fish traps.

Forecasts May Be Over-Optimistic as Regards Meats

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—Government forecasts of a boost in meat supplies and lower prices by late 1949 may be over-optimistic.

Made chiefly by the Agriculture Department, these predictions have been based largely on the fact that, at the moment, the relationship between feed prices and livestock prices is very favorable for producing meat animals.

This year's record grain crop has put a downward pressure on feed prices, but livestock prices have remained relatively high.

But reports from the corn belt, where the bulk of the nation's meat supply comes from, indicate that farmers are not jumping in to expand livestock production as much as the department had expected.

These reports say many farmers fear that prices may drop sharply by the time new meat animals can be produced, fattened and marketed.

This view was expressed by Carl C. Malone, Iowa State College economist, before an Agriculture Department farm outlook conference here this week. He was supported by several economists from other western corn belt states.

Malone, somewhat at the surprise of department officials, said he does not believe farmers will meet the government's goal of a 50 percent increase in pig crop. Such a goal must be met if there is to be a big jump in pork supplies next year. It compares with the year's spring crop of 50 percent.

Malone said many farmers in Iowa, the major pork raising state, prefer to put their corn under government price support loans and thereby escape any risk that might be involved in feeding the grain to livestock.

The department itself reported similar skepticism among corn belt cattle feeders in a report yesterday. It said the volume of beef cattle to be fed in the corn belt this winter may not be greatly different from a year ago because of a "cautious attitude among farmers and financing agencies."

Uncertainty of future prices of beef cattle was said to be the main factor back of this cautiousness.

This farmer uneasiness also has been expressed in heavy October marketing of hogs. The recent drop in feed prices had been expected to lead farmers to hold hogs for fattening to heavy weights.

But the reverse has been the case. Hogs are coming to market at considerably lighter weights than a year ago and in larger numbers.

Increased Activity Observed in Greece

Athens, Oct. 14 (AP)—Increased guerrilla activity has been observed recently in the Peloponnese, where unidentified aircraft have been reported dropping arms and munitions to mountain bands nightly.

These reports coincided with persistent rumors that Markos Vamvakis, leader of the Communist rebels, is planning to send some members of his "free" Greek government to the area. Guerrillas in the Peloponnese have been concentrating mainly on sabotage of public utility works, including power stations, aqueducts and bridges.

A large guerrilla band, estimated in press reports at about 1,500, attacked Zacharo in the western Peloponnese Tuesday night. They burned the cable office, the Agricultural Bank and several houses and looted shops before being driven out by the reinforced garrison, aided by air support, a bulletin from the War Ministry said.

Poland Says U.S. Rebuilds Imperialism

Paris, Oct. 14 (AP)—Poland charged in the United Nations today American dollars are rebuilding a new imperialist Germany. Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate and one-time University of Chicago professor, said this "rebirth of nationalistic and imperialistic tendencies" is opposed to the interests of all who have reason to fear renewal of German political expansion. He raised the specter of German militarism in a bitter attack against the European Recovery Program before the 58-nation U.N. Economic Committee.

Delivery Men Quit; Beer Drouth Threatens

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—A beer drouth threatened here today as delivery men for six of the city's leading breweries quit work.

A union spokesman said the stoppage resulted from suspensions of 63 drivers at the Jacob Ruppert Brewing Co. The union said the brewers had resorted to a lockout.

The Brewers Board of Trade reported the dispute spread from the Ruppert Company to five other firms, and said the stoppage was in violation of present contracts.

An official of a local of the C.I.O. Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers said the 63 Ruppert drivers were notified earlier this week they were being penalized by two to five days loss of work for failure to keep up with a New York schedule.

The schedule, he said, requires drivers to deliver 30 half-barrels of beer in four hours, a task which the men say requires nine hours.

Other breweries affected were Schaefer's, Liebmann, Piel Brothers, J. F. Trommers and Burke Brothers.

Voters to Decide

Columbia, S. C., (AP)—Divorces and penal pardons will be before the people of South Carolina in the November 2 general election for the first time since the 1895 state constitution was adopted. That constitution flatly bans divorces, gives the state's governors unlimited pardoning and parole powers. Constitutional amendments up for a vote would permit divorces for desertion, physical cruelty, habitual drunkenness and adultery, and would strip governors of all pardoning powers but precludes and commutations in death sentences.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Driving ahead with a relatively heavy volume of trading, the stock market today gained reactions to around a point.

Buying was scattered throughout the list and embraced oils, steels, motors, utilities, rails, aircraft, metals and chemicals.

The most pronounced activity was centered in the oil issues with Standard Oil (N. J.) a favorite on the upside. Bigdels and Southern California posted good gains. Superior Oil of California at one time was up 8 1/2 to 195 on a few sales.

The rail group lagged on the price front and presented a mixed picture with gains running as high as a point but with losses in small fractions.

Consolidated Vultee held the activity spotlight in the aircraft group after its poor earnings report. National Steel reached a new high for the year but other steels were narrowly mixed.

A considerable number of blocks of stock ranging from 1,000 to 2,500 shares appeared throughout the list during the morning.

Higher were Nickel Plate, Atlantic Coast Line, Houston Light & Power at a new high for the year, Boeing, Douglas, St. Joseph Lead, Westinghouse, Dow Chemical on a good earnings report, Allied Chemical, U. S. Gypsum, Atlas Powder, International Business Machines, Radio, and Twentieth-Century-Fox.

On the down side were such issues as Bond Stores at a new low for the year, Caterpillar, General Electric, Mission Corp., Union Pacific, Northern Pacific.

The bond market was quiet with price changes in small fractions.

Red Conversion Of War Prisoners Failing Miserably

By G. K. HODENFIELD
Vienna, Austria, Oct. 14 (AP)—
Russian attempts to convert Austrian and German war prisoners to Communism are "failing miserably," repatriated prisoners said here today.

A cross section of 300 repatriated prisoners said today they willingly attended all lectures because it eventually meant easier
work and more food.

Most of the repatriates said they were well treated in Russia, after the first hectic months of the immediate post-war period. Their worst treatment, they said, was at the hands of their fellow prisoners who made a quick and profitable jump from Nazism to Communism.

ates who arrived here yesterday told newsmen they still had been forced to attend lectures on Marxism which pictured capitalism as declining.

The lectures, they said, were given both by Russian officers and by Communists from the ranks of the prisoners. At one camp a series of "question and answer" evenings was started, but the plan was dropped "because they did not get the right answers to their questions."

The former prisoners said they willingly attended all lectures because it eventually meant easier
work and more food.

Most of the repatriates said they were well treated in Russia, after the first hectic months of the immediate post-war period. Their worst treatment, they said, was at the hands of their fellow prisoners who made a quick and profitable jump from Nazism to Communism.

One returned prisoner told of a German major, a former school teacher, who applied for and obtained a job teaching Communism to the prisoners. He held his job for three weeks—until the Russians learned his wartime task was teaching Nazism to German army recruits.

Colin Kelly Buried Amid Scenes of Boyhood

Madison, Fla., Oct. 14 (AP)—
Capt. Colin Kelly, hailed seven years ago as the first hero of the war in the Pacific, lies buried today amid the scenes of his boy-hood at this small north Florida town.

Full military honors marked the burial yesterday of the young flier who was killed when his plane crashed soon after he had bombed the Japanese battleship Haruna. At Kelly's command, the crew members parachuted to safety.

Kelly's death won him personal praise from President Roosevelt, and he was posthumously awarded the Distinguished Service Cross and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Among the hundreds of mourners at the graveside service were Kelly's parents, his young widow who has since remarried, and his eight-year-old son, Colin III.

VITAMINS Aren't Baby Stuff

Many adults are of the opinion that vitamins are something that goes into a baby's bottle and are required only by infants and very young children. Let it be understood—vitamins are essential to the health and life of everyone. Nature supplies vitamins in foods but frequently it is necessary to fortify the diet with additional vitamins in concentrated form. In such cases, we can recommend these products. They are the preparations of reputable manufacturers nationally known for the quality of their goods.

Vaudeville Bill At the Broadway

Talented Comedienne
Will Head Five-Act
Performance

Arabella, talented young comedienne who sings, dances and yodels as well as plays a half-dozen instruments, and who has teamed with such entertainment headliners as Martha Raye, Mickey Rooney and Morton Downey, will head the five-act professional vaudeville bill at the Broadway Theatre Friday and Saturday, October 15 and 16.

Headed as "The Musical Madcap" Arabella plays the accordion, xylophone, piano and drums. Newspaper critics, warm in their praise of her act, have called her a "musical Judy Canova" and Variety, the entertainment world newspaper, said "her ability as a singer, comedienne and musician are as colorful as her red hair. She'll be a big star soon."

Three feature and two evening shows will be presented daily with the Broadway's first-run screen attraction "I Surrender Dear" with Gloria Jean.

Also featured, and serving as master of ceremonies, will be Lee Davis, who was featured with Gertrude Neilsen in the Broadway stage success "Follow the Girls." Employing a fast line of comedy material, he will also do impressions and a number of parodies on popular songs.

Ross Wye, Jr., and Peggy Wornack will be teamed together in a comedy-variety act entitled "Nothing Ever Happens . . ."

They act "straight" at the opening, going through usual balancing feats, until suddenly Wye's legs fail to hold up, and Miss Wornack's arms become limp while balancing Wye.

A novelty number will be supplied by Yvonne Moray, the "Dyna-Mite." A midjet, she is a fine comedienne, and has a powerful voice for fast "jump" type songs. Fifth act will be Woody and Bobby, two of the fastest trick roller skaters in the business, who are billed as the "Wonder Flyers." During the past summer they toured South America, and that will be one of their first engagements since returning to the United States.

Mobile X-ray Unit in Fifth Ward Next Week

All persons 15 years of age or older residing in Kingston, other areas of Ulster county, or elsewhere, were urged to have a free chest X-ray by Dr. W. Allan Long, state deputy commissioner of health, at a rally held Monday evening at Corbin Bros. Company, where the mobile X-ray unit will be situated during its stay in the Fifth Ward on October 20 and 21.

Over 25 canvassers heard speakers from the County Health Department and the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association at the meeting. Materials were distributed to the canvassers who will start visiting ward residents today to offer them the privilege of a free chest X-ray.

Committee heads serving with ward co-chairmen William Sinnabough and Joseph Amato are: Harry Staples, canvassing; W. Davis Hawk, publicity; Raymond McAndrew, transportation; Albert Holmeyer, location; and Mrs. Raymond Van Valkenburgh of the baby sitters committee.

TRY HAM, NOODLES IN CASSEROLE

Tuna-noodle baked in casserole makes a bountiful dinner-in-a-dish.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

For a budget yet satisfying dinner-in-a-dish, try this recipe:
Tuna-Noodle Bake
(6 servings)

Two teaspoons salt, 1 quart water, 4 ounces noodles, 1 can mushroom soup (10½ ounces), 2/3 cup water, ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 4 ounces American cheese, sliced or cut into pieces, 2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced, 8 stuffed olives sliced, 1 can tuna fish (7 ounces), sprig of parsley.

Add salt to one quart water and bring to boil; add noodles and cook for about 20 minutes or until noodles are done. Drain noodles and rinse in cold water. Heat mushroom soup and 2/3 cup water, stirring until smooth. Add Worcestershire sauce and cheese. Continue cooking until cheese is melted. Reserve a few egg slices and olive slices for garnish. Add rest of egg slices, olive slices and tuna fish to noodles in a two-quart heat-resistant glass baking dish. Mix together lightly. Pour mushroom sauce over noodle mixture. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for about 30 minutes. Serve in same dish and garnish with egg and olive slices and a sprig of parsley.

Here's a dessert treat that can be baked along with the tuna and noodles:

Brownie Pudding
(Serves 6-8)

One-half cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup granulated sugar, 3 tablespoons cocoa, ¼ cup milk, 1 tablespoon melted shortening, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, ¼ cup chopped nuts (optional), ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed, ¾ cup boiling water.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, granulated sugar and 1 tablespoon cocoa, and sift again. Add milk, shortening and vanilla; mix only until smooth. Then add nuts. Turn into greased casserole or small baking dish. Mix together brown sugar and 2 tablespoons cocoa; sprinkle over batter. Then pour boiling water over top of batter. (This makes a chocolate sauce in the bottom of pan after pudding is baked.) Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 30 minutes.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Prune juice, oatmeal, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Creamed hard-cooked eggs and peas on toast, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, ginger pears, sweet crackers, tea, milk.

DINNER: Tuna and noodle bake, mixed vegetable and greens salad, French dressing, heated French bread, butter, fortified margarine, chocolate brownie pudding, coffee, milk.

Dairymen's League Business Totaled $138,000.00 in '48

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—The Dairymen's League Cooperative Association sold more than $138,000 worth of milk and milk products during its last fiscal year, members were informed today.

The total for the year ended March 31, represented a rise of approximately $10,000,000 over sales of the previous year, the president's annual report stated.

The report was prepared by Henry H. Rathbun, who died unexpectedly last month. It was presented at the cooperative's 29th annual membership meeting to delegates representing the 26,000 members of the organization. Approx-mately 2,000 are attending the convention.

The increase in the dollar volume of sales considerably exceeded the increase in milk production on members' farms, the report noted. A production total of 2,476,858,810 pounds was 22 per cent greater than that of the preceding year. The dollar value was up 8.1 per cent.

A section devoted to the league's prospects said:

"Marketing conditions have changed. Seasonal surpluses are not the same problem that they were at one time. Population of the cities has continued to increase, while the number of producers in this milkshed has declined.

"These changed conditions mean that fewer manufacturing plants can handle the problem satisfactorily."

No specific changes in operations were recommended. It was reported that capital assets, such as plants, machinery and equipment, had increased by $2,750,000.

Summing up, Rathbun wrote: "We are now in a period almost identical to the years of 1921 and 1922, when farm prices took sharp declines."

"If we believe we need to go through a repetition of those conditions," because "farmers have learned to take advantage of their cooperative strength."

State Takes First Step Toward Rebuilding Road

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—The state has taken the first step toward rebuilding 90 miles of Route 17 in southern New York into a four and six-lane highway.

The Public Works Department said yesterday a low bid of $80,360 for an aerial survey of the section had been received from the Aero Service Corp. of Philadelphia.

The section extends from Deposit in Broome county to Fair Oaks, near Middletown in Orange county. Most of the route is a two-lane highway. It handles much of the through traffic between New York city and communities across the southern part of the state.

Engineers will draw a master construction plan for the survey picture, a public works spokesman said. Construction will follow "in due time," he added.

The department said the section crossed rugged terrain where ground survey methods would be expensive and slow.

Papers Support Dewey

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Scripps-Howard newspapers today announced their support of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in next month's presidential election. The nationwide group of 19 newspapers also backed Dewey in the 1944 campaign.

Longshoremen Reject 10-Cent Hourly Offer

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—A provisional 10 cents an hour wage rise offered by east coast shipping lines to A.F.L. longshoremen was rejected by the longshoremen yesterday.

The offer was an attempt to settle a contract dispute between the New York Shipping Association and the A.F.L. International Longshoremen's Association.

A Maine-to-Virginia strike by the I.L.A.'s 45,000 members is threatened for Nov. 9, when a federal injunction expires.

The union also rejected a proposal to reduce the basis of computing night and week-end workers' overtime pay, according to Joseph P. Ryan, I.L.A. president. Ryan said the proposal would be "giving away one of our basic rights."

A Supreme Court ruling last June requires that night and week-end work performed in excess of 40 hours a week must be paid for at a rate of one-and-one-half times the regular overtime rate of $2.62 1/2.

Shippers said the decision calls for "overtime on overtime."

The union has agreed that the Supreme Court decision causes hardship on employers. Both union and management have asked President Truman to investigate the problem and recommend a solution.

On Monday, however, the Supreme Court turned down a rehearing on the overtime pay issue.

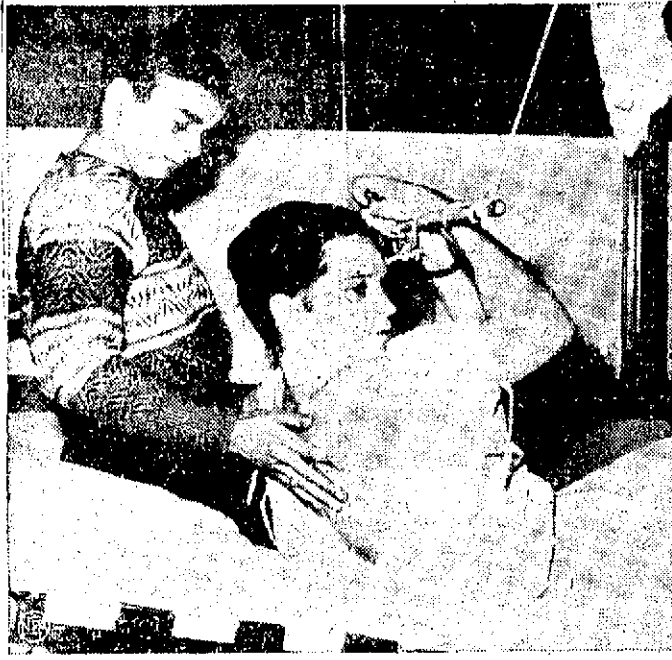

The union wants a 50-cent hourly boost over the present day straight-time rate of $1.75 an hour, and a 75-cent hike over the overtime rate of $2.62 1/2.

Marriage Hits Snag

Las Vegas, Nev., Oct. 14 (AP)—Ellsworth (Sonny) Wisecarver's latest marital try has hit a snag. His 18-year-old wife, Betty, is reported to have gone home to mother and Sonny, 19, took a hotel room yesterday. Sonny is the boy who eloped at the age of 14 with Mrs. Elaine Monfredi. A year later he eloped again—this time with Mrs. Eleanor Devony. His Yuma marriage to Mrs. Monfredi was annulled. In the Mrs. Devony case, no wedding ensued. Wisecarver and his present wife were married last year in St. George, Utah. Asked if they had separated, Mrs. Wisecarver said: "I won't say yes and I won't say no."

The same press which issued the first paper in Oregon and California was taken to Washington to print the first paper there.

Woodstock News

By Peg Hard

McClellan Has Show at Skidmore

Woodstock, Oct. 14 — Several hundred members and friends of Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, attended a studio tea Monday, October 11, given in honor of a well known Woodstock artist, John McClellan, whose work is on view in both the Exhibition Gallery and Hathorn Studio at the college. The exhibition continues until October 29.

McClellan's series of 35 drawings known as "Souvenir of Aggression" included in the Skidmore exhibition caused wide comment when shown in part at the Mollie Smith Gallery during the summer. This artist was with the 71st Artillery Division during the war and traveled widely through Germany and Austria. Since his release from the army, the experience remained very vivid in his memory and is responsible for the Aggression series. They are described as "creations of the imagination involving insight into hidden forces and meanings."

To help the audience understand his work, McClellan has supplied an accompanying text. The passages are not original, instead they are compiled from great books, which have been read, deeply felt and pondered. The artist has said that one of the things which influenced him most was the reading of the Nuremberg Diary and reports of the Nuremberg Trials.

Supplementing the Souvenir of Aggression is another group of drawings and lithographs being exhibited which the artist chooses to call Studies in Form. These are in a lighter and happier vein. Some of the subjects included in the Souvenir group are The Power and the Glory; The Paper Shroud; Youth Movement; The Valley of the Shadow; Dissemination of the People; Study of Confusion; The Iron Curtain of the Mind; Study in Violence; Manna; Our Daily Bread I and II; Death Was Too Slow; Souvenir of a Master Race; Protective Custody; Arbeit Macht Frei; Eugenics; Liberation from Darkness; Return to Goetha I and II; Reminder to Aggressors.

McClellan is a member of the Woodstock Artists Association. His training includes study at the School of the Museum in Boston, Massachusetts, and the Academy Julianne in Paris. He has exhibited in many national group shows and has had one-man shows in New York city, Albany, Woodstock, as well as Skidmore College. His work is represented in the Library of Congress, the Whitney Museum of American Art, and in many private collections.

Saugerties Woman
Sued for Commission

New York, Oct. 14 (Special)—A Fairview, N. J., real estate broker, Martin A. Leddy, filed a complaint in United States District Court here Wednesday to collect the commission he claims Antonette Berger of Saugerties owes him for the sale of certain Fairview property.

Leddy claims in his suit that he contracted with the defendant on April 5 to act as agent for her in the sale of the property at $12,000.

Shortly afterwards, he states, a prospective buyer he contacted, Mrs. Josephine Dateno, of Fairview, who was willing to pay the selling price, was turned down by the defendant. Leddy claims he subsequently learned, after obtaining a second buyer who was also told that the property "was being withheld from the market," that Mrs. Dateno and the Saugerties woman had privately negotiated for the sale of the property at $11,000.

The first newspaper published regularly was printed in Germany in 1809.

Eisenhower Painting
Is Sold for $2,600

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—A painting by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was sold for $2,600 at a benefit auction last night.

The picture, which Eisenhower did for the Urban League, a group to aid Negroes, brought by far the highest price as paintings by 100 celebrities went under the hammer.

Eisenhower's painting is of an Indian, and on the reverse side is a landscape, the General's first attempt at painting for fun.

The successful bidder was William S. Wassell, who is in the baking business in Philadelphia.

Dairymen Will Get $5.25
For September Milk Shipments

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—A uniform price of $5.25 per hundred-weight (about 47 quarts) will be received by dairymen in the New York milkshed for milk delivered to pool-approved plants last month.

Last year, the uniform price for September was $4.60 per hundred-weight.

The butterfat differential for September will be 6.4 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard, according to A. J. Pollard, acting market administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area.

Pollard said yesterday that milk production last month was only 6,549 pounds less than production in September a year ago, despite a loss of 638 dairymen in the number supplying the market.

Receipts at milk plants last month totaled 444,254,208 pounds compared with 444,246,659 pounds in September, 1947, he said.

Increased daily output per farm overcame the loss in producers last month. The 45,381 dairy farmers who supplied the market in September averaged 326 pounds a day each, four pounds a day more than the average by the 46,019 producers in the pool a year ago, and the highest for the month on record.

Pollard said that, despite the comparatively equal production this year and last, fluid milk consumption in September continued to decline for the twelfth straight month.

Consumption of fluid milk in the marketing area—New York city and Nassau, Suffolk and Westchester counties—dropped from 270,634,577 pounds in September, 1947, to 262,286,626 pounds last month, a decrease of 8,347,951 pounds, or 3.08 per cent.

Sales of fluid milk from the New York milkshed to non-federally regulated markets—principally upstate New York and northern New Jersey—declined from 33,845,588 pounds a year ago to 31,902,077 pounds last month, a loss of 1,943,511 pounds, or 5.75 per cent.

Total fluid consumption declined from 304,480,165 pounds to 295,129,296 pounds, a decrease of 9,350,869 pounds, or 3.07 per cent.

Total farm value of last month's production was $24,081,967.26, made up of $23,323,345.92 at the uniform price and $758,621.34 in butterfat and location premiums.

Payment at the uniform price of $5.25 per hundredweight will be made for milk testing 3.5 per cent butterfat received at plants 201-210 miles from New York city.

Three Vessels Still Radioactively Hot

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—A dozen of the 76 ships used in the 1946 Bikini atomic bomb tests are still afloat, three still dangerously hot with radioactivity.

Two of them—the heavy cruiser Pensacola and the destroyer Hughes—will be sunk in forthcoming naval maneuvers because it would cost more to decontaminate them than could be realized from their sale as scrap metal, the navy said today.

The third of the heavily-poisoned trio, the shattered hulk of the carrier Independence, is anchored in San Francisco Bay as a training ground for safety teams and for decontamination experiments.

Nine of the 12 remaining ships are cleansed of radioactivity. Four—two submarines and two landing craft—are being returned to service. The other five, all transports, will be sold as surplus, the navy said.

Of the 64 ships in Bikini lagoon when the underwater bomb exploded, nine sank, capsized or were sunk later.

The remainder—except for the 12 still afloat—have been used as targets or scuttled.

Transport Workers Strike
Frankfurt, Germany, Oct. 14 (AP)—About 9,000 German transport workers struck today over a drawn-out wage dispute. The trade union-backed move affected only private transport business in the American Zone state of Hesse.

Vittorio Threatens To Call Strike

Rome, Oct. 14 (AP)—Communist Labor Boss Giuseppe Di Vittorio threatened today to call a nationwide general strike if the Italian government fails to satisfy demands of government employees.

About 1,000,000 government workers struck for most of the working day to back wage hike and other demands.

Vittorio addressed a mass meeting of government workers.

"If the government does not accept state employees' requests, all 7,000,000 General Confederation workers will strike to support their demands," he declared.

The General Confederation of Labor (C.G.L.) is Communist-led. General strike action by the C.G.L. would cover every labor category and could paralyze the nation.

The strike was designed as a show of strength, but the strikers were careful not to anger the public. Railway workers halted only two hours between 10 a. m. and noon and customs workers also stayed out only for a two-hour period. Both groups left skeleton staffs on the job.

Telephone service was not interrupted but international cable service was crippled during the night by the theft of a section of cable south of Bologna.

Although it had been announced previously that telephone service would be maintained, a Rome operator replied "we are on strike" when asked to take a call for Milan.

Strong police forces appeared on the streets of Rome an hour after the strike began.

The Communist-dominated General Confederation of Labor (C.G.L.) encouraged and guided the strikers, although government workers normally are considered in the center or right of center while other classes.

The Christian Democratic Union movement has given reserved support to the strike.

This was the first big-scale government workers' strike of the postwar period.

Two Join Marines At Local Office

It was announced today by the U. S. Marine Corps recruiting office in the central Post Office Building, this city, that Walter A. Wolfell and Oscar J. Waleur, Jr., both of Kingston, had been enlisted in the Marines for a period of three years. Both of these men enlisted Tuesday.

Walter A. Wolfell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wolfell of 13 Second avenue, and Oscar J. Waleur, Jr., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Waleur of 70 Lincoln street.

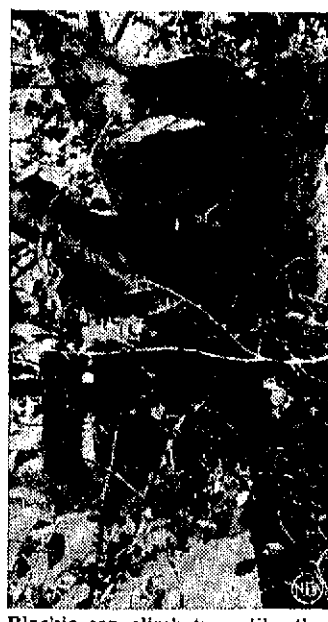

Young Wolfell was formerly employed by the Skyline Mfg. Co. as a stock clerk and Waleur was formerly employed by the Pilgrim Furniture factory.

Private Wolfell attended Kingston High School for two years and while there participated in football and basketball.

Waleur attended Kingston High School for one year and while in high school was a member of the football, basketball and track teams. He won three second class medals for running and two second class medals for the high jump while on the track team.

Both of these young men were transferred to the U. S. Marine Corps Recruit Depot at Parris Island, South Carolina, for their 10 weeks of basic training. Upon completion of their training period they will receive 10 days leave to visit their homes.

Follow the Leader to Death

A peaceful stretch of Florida beach turned into a whales' graveyard as 44 pilot whales beached themselves nine miles north of St. Augustine. Some of the monsters, ranging from 5000 to 6000 pounds, are shown here. Observers say they committed suicide by "following the leader" who flopped up on the beach.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Oct. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Takats, New York couple who bought the Fred Weisenstein residence and restaurant near the railroad viaduct, are occupying their new home.

Alan L. Voigt of Kingston was a recent caller in the hub of the reservoir country.

The new house of Bertha Keodar of Kingston on the old state road is practically ready for occupancy. Frank Carle's house in the same vicinity is also nearing completion.

The local basketball team expect to resume their games at the Ashokan Methodist Church Hall soon. The boys have elected Norman North and Ernie Bode as their manager and captain, respectively, for the coming season.

Now that the big job of concreting the two new sections of the Ashokan trail is practically completed, there is a business of finishing up the shoulders of the road and picking up the mechanical equipment by the contractor. The large fleet of the M. R. F. Trucking Company of Rochester which has hauled thousands of loads of ready-mix batches from the West Hurley railroad yard will move to other locations this week. Most of the truck drivers have been boarding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Japoc in Ashokan.

Maple's Lane, in the west end of the village, has been connected up with the new concrete state road. Numerous driveways in Ashokan are being given better outlets to The Trail and some drainage work is being done in connection with this project.

Here and There

During the recent cold snap the mercury dropped below freezing in the Walden area where on the same day an apple tree burst into blossom for the first time this year. One case of not being "better late than never" . . . Up in Cooperstown, Judge Mort Cooper told Rotarians that men with hobbies would have no time for war. One of the judge's hobbies is raising rare birds and it is his rooster that appears on 33,000 motion picture theatres, twice a day, in connection with the Pathe News feature. That's something to know about.

The Catskill Mountain News relates an amusing yarn in connection with the visit of Chester DuMond, the state commissioner of agriculture, to friends up in Dry Brook valley. A dairyman while showing off his modern barn and equipment to the Ulster county man, became a bit flustered. When he finished wiping the udder of the cow he was about to milk, he threw the cloth into the pail of milk instead of back into the water pail. The commissioner thought that was good for a laugh and quipped: "Suppose now with a state official present you will have to waste that pail of milk." Well, we doubt if the milk was wasted. Farmers as a rule abhor waste of any kind, but if a cow steps into a pail of whole milk he will empty it into the pig trough, painful as that may be to him.

Nevada Travelers Have an Awful Time

Reno, Oct. 14 (AP)—Travelers in Nevada have an awful time these days, trying to find out what time it is.

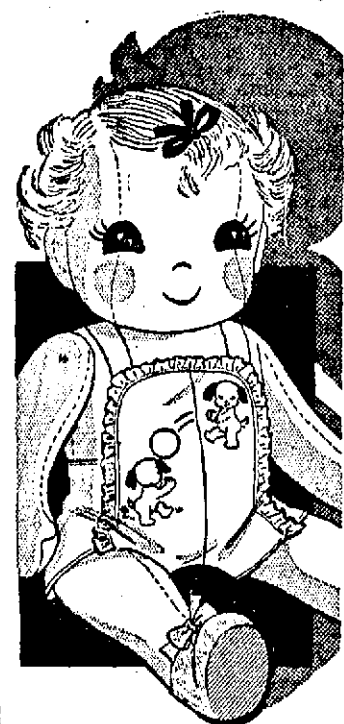

Because many areas of the state do not approve of continuing Daylight Saving Time during fall and winter months, motorists traveling from Salt Lake City to Reno via Highway 50 have to make the following changes in their watches:

At Ely, on the state's eastern border, they set their watches back one hour for Pacific Standard Time; about 100 miles west, they return to Pacific Daylight Time for Austin and Eureka. At Fallon, they go back an hour to Standard Time again, starting next Sunday. And finally in Reno, the time reverts to Daylight Time.

Favors 10-Year Service

WE JUST HAVEN'T GOT THE NERVE

To Make $1.80 Profit on a Pair of Sox!

Last week we advertised Interwoven Sox at half price . . . $2.50 sox for $1.25 and $2.00 sox for $1.00. We were immediately paid a visit by a representative of the Interwoven manufacturers. They ordered us to sell at the marked price or they would bring court action against us under the Fair Trade Act of New York State.

After consulting our lawyer, we found that this law forbids us or anyone else to sell cheaper than the Fair Trade Price. We are running this advertisement to explain why we cannot sell them as advertised. We paid Seventy Cents (70¢) a pair for these sox and our conscience simply would not let us sell them for $2.50 a pair at $1.80 profit. This is not in line with the Shanty Store policy of low profits and low prices. There is only one thing we can do . . . give them away. Yes, sir, we mean it, give them away. With each purchase of $15.00 you can get a pair absolutely free.

Actress Is in Hospital

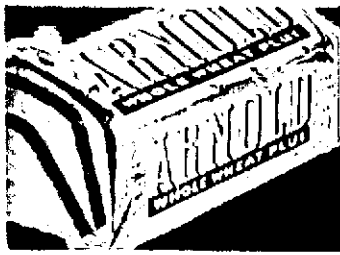

Los Angeles, Oct. 14 (AP)—Veronica Keane, involved in a money dispute with her mother, is in hospital awaiting the birth of her third child. The actress entered the hospital yesterday, two days after her mother, Mrs. Constance Veronica Keane, filed suit against the star and her husband, Producer Arthur Hecht, for $500 monthly support and $17,136 she claims is due under a 1943 support agreement. Mrs. Keane claims she is distressed and that Veronica has neglected her since achieving stardom.

PICCARD TESTS DIVING EQUIPMENT

Prof. Auguste Piccard (left) has diving equipment adjusted before test of diving suit, in swimming pool at Dakar, French West Africa, during stop en route to Cape Verde Islands for deep-sea diving explorations. Steel Industry Asked to Adopt Specific Program

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—A congressional group called upon the steel industry today to adopt a specific program aimed at combatting gray markets, that now "reap fantastic profits."

The House committee investigating questionable trade practices disclosed at the same time that it has turned over to the Federal Reserve Bank its files showing the profits of persons and firms taking "unscrupulous advantage" of the steel shortage.

The committee issued a formal report saying that 10 to 12 percent of the nation's total steel and sheet steel production is moving into gray market channels, while the profits of these roundly criticized but not illegal operators amount into millions.

The committee opposed any federal controls but urged the steel industry to tighten up on a voluntary, industry-sponsored program "calculated to encourage free and competitive enterprise."

Under the chairmanship of Rep. Mancy (R-N. Y.), the committee suggested:

1. That all steel producers contribute to the formation of an independent organization to conduct impartial investigations and make reports to the industry.
2. That orders for steel be accepted only with the proviso that any diversion or unauthorized resale could result in cancellation of the orders.
3. That mills quit trading steel to scrap dealers because "in every case of this nature investigated" it was found that the finished product was going into gray markets at premium prices.

Blood and Treasure

By FRANK TRIPP

The hopeless attitude of American youth which one encounters so often these days is a sad commentary on the stewardship of their elders.

It would be even more prevalent if the lads who face military training, and perhaps war, had ever lived in a truly peaceful era.

None of the boys who will next man our tanks, ships and planes has had an honest chance to look into the future and call it his own.

Since they matured there has always been an "if" to cloud their plans. They will go to college if— They will finish their education if— They will enter a certain business or profession if—

They will get married if— No, hold on, think that back. Most of 'em ignore that if. That's the compelling emotion which neither rain, nor sleet, nor war, nor hell and high water will deter.

ANW WHO should blame them? Surely they are entitled to at least one of the normal, joyful experiences which brightened the youth of their fathers. Since they abandoned poppies and kiddie cars they have lived in an atmosphere of uncertainty.

The brief period of their comprehending lives, since the V days, have been no more like real peace than day is like night. No feeling of genuine security has ever been theirs. They don't know the difference.

PERHAPS it is as well. Man seems unable to recreate for himself and for his children the aura of contentment and confidence in which the older of us were brought up. The romantic fun-poked, inconvenient Gay Nineties.

I'd settle for them, and wish my own children back to horse and buggy days, if with them could come the soul soothing peace, the good will to men, the reverence for God and the glowing horizon of stability and hope which once faced the boys and girls of America. Probably the kids wouldn't go back if they had the chance. Because they never had known real peace and international tranquility. Any way they'll not have the chance. That's why 'tis well they do not know.

WHILE we ready our boys for another fray, we flaunt before them shameful evidence of how things got this way; our utter incompetence in the task of getting along with each other and making a peaceful world.

On the material side, which keeps us broke, are such incongruous things as our wanton disposal of "war surplus" on the one hand and expenditure of billions of war preparedness on the other.

And I don't mean used pup tents. Nor cavalry saddles from the Spanish-American war which were still on hand at the close of the last war.

Six miles from my house the gut-rid-of-'em boys just sold a built-for-permanency war materials holding plant for a little over a million. It cost from 9 to 17 millions (take your choice), has ground level floor space of one and a half million square feet, covers 350 acres, has 38 miles of railroad switches. From it long trainloads went to fill supply ships over night. It stored everything from locomotives to thumb tacks—plenty of which somehow got to Russia.

In THE VERY TEETH of another war this is sold for a fraction of its cost. When another is needed, months will be wasted and another 9 to 17 millions spent to replace it.

It could have been kept (we kept the saddles) and filled with an unending list of so-called war surplus which is being almost given away by one government agency and requisitioned by another.

Such, for instance, as the $200, 25-man balsa life raft that I bought for $14.50 for the kids to swim from. Or the brand new $100, ten-man raft that the war surplus store sold me for $7.50, and probably got from your Uncle Sam for less than five.

Lads, your fathers have earned almost any fate that can befall them; but it's tough that you will have to pay the shot—with blood and treasure.

Threat Is Seen

Folkestone, Eng. (AP)—Health Minister Aneurin Bevan says the British people must use the national health service "sparingly" to keep from killing it. He said the medical insurance program, started last summer, will "break down because of the demands made on it" unless people use it "intelligently, sparingly and prudently."

There was a great demand at the beginning but I believe it will ease down and the whole thing will find its proper level," he told a dinner conference of British hospital representatives.

Traveling Monument

Lexington, S. C. (AP)—The Lexington Confederate Monument apparently is none the worse for wear despite two moves since 1866. In the most recent move the tall stone shaft was broken into 11 pieces and moved to the grounds of a new county court house.

Thirty Are Freed on Sound Truck Charges

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Thirty defendants, including two American Labor party candidates for Congress, were freed yesterday of charges of operating sound trucks without police permit.

The A.L.P. congressional candidates were City Councilman Eugene P. Connolly and Leon Straus. Lester H. Solomon, who is running for municipal court justice on the A.L.P. ticket, also was a defendant.

Magistrate Harry G. Andrews dismissed the complaints against the 30 on motion of James L. Linsley, of the police department's legal bureau. Linsley said the charges were based on an old city ordinance relating to sound trucks, which now has been replaced by a new law passed Oct. 1. Linsley said the new law conforms closely to recent U. S. Supreme Court rulings on the subject. On June 7, the court ruled unconstitutional an ordinance of Lockport, N. Y., forbidding the use of sound trucks without a permit.

Red Move Stopped

Settlement Nears
In Slay Dispute

London, Oct. 11 (AP)—Britain and Yugoslavia are near settlement of their dispute over what Tito's government should pay for British assets seized in Yugoslavia during and after the war, government sources announced today.

A treasury spokesman said a formal announcement might be made soon.

A Board of Trade spokesman said rapid progress is being made on the negotiations, which will clear the way for signing a trade pact between the countries.

Britain originally claimed $12,000,000 ($48,000,000) from the Yugoslavs. Tito offered to pay $2,000,000. Negotiations broke down last winter but were resumed two weeks ago after the two countries reached virtual agreement on the proposed trade pact.

Women in Politics

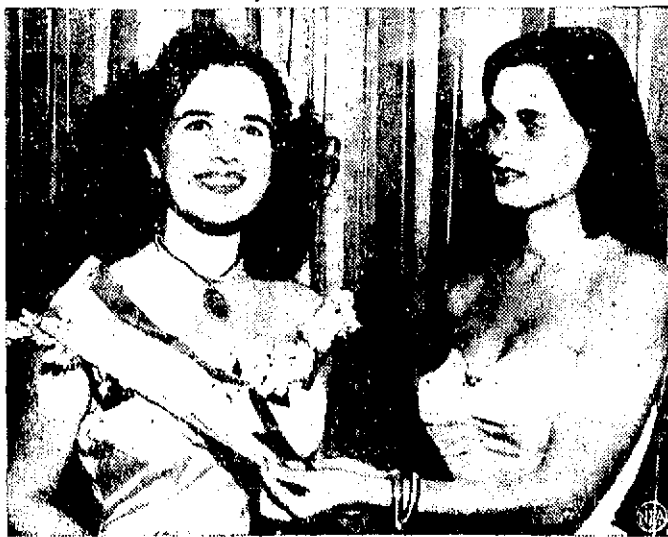

Helsinki (AP)—Finland's women have acquired increased influence in the parliament and in politics in general since the war. In the general elections this summer women won 24 out of 200 seats in the Finnish parliament and a woman, Mrs. Lijla Leivo-Larsson, was instituted as vice minister of social affairs in the new cabinet. In 1945, 17 seats were won by women and in 1938, 16 parliamentary seats were occupied by women.

BRITISH GOAT DEMOBILIZED

"Flight Sergeant Lewis," famous Royal Air Force goat, is demobilized with full ceremony. Here he is led on his final parade at Halton Camp, Buckinghamshire, England, where he was mascot to thousands of aircraft apprentices. R.A.F. officials expect this retirement to stick for when Lewis was demobilized a few months ago for the first time, he refused to leave camp and chewed up his demobilization papers. This time he goes to the Mascot Club in London.

Farmer May Get Smaller Share of Consumer's Dollar

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—The farmer may get a slightly smaller share of the consumer's food dollar next year.

His cut, the Agriculture Department said today, seems likely to average 50 cents, compared with 52 indicated for this year and the peak of 54 cents in 1945 and 1946. The farmer's portion still will be above the pre-war average of 40 cents.

The department said charges for marketing and processing farm food products have reached new record highs and are expected to show little or no decline next year.

Labor costs were said to make up about one half of these costs, and further boosts in transportation charges were predicted. The department said retailers' profit margins for meat appear somewhat higher than pre-war on a cents-per-pound basis, but much lower percentage-wise because of the higher prices.

Warrens Have Anniversary
Spokane, Wash., Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. and Mrs. Earl Warren observed their 23rd wedding anniversary today, but the real celebration came last night. Three of the Warren children flew from Sacramento, Calif., to join the Republican vice presidential candidate. It was a pleasant surprise for Mrs. Warren—Dad was in on the secret—when Dorothy, 17, Nina, 15, and Bobby, 13, stepped off an airliner at Spokane late last night. It made a family party of six since Virginia, an older daughter, is traveling with the campaign train.

"Jail isn't so bad once you get used to it," said 54-year-old Charley Seward after he returned to the Indianapolis, Ind., pokey after 48 hours of freedom. Paroled after serving 32 years for shooting a man, Seward wants back in because the high cost of living stunned him.

Clock Gets Face
Montreux, Switzerland (AP)—The old clock on the tower of the famed Castle of Chillon, which has been ticking away for four centuries, is about to get a new face. The clock was installed by the master clockmaker, Andre Morges, in 1543 and is the oldest clock in this part of the country. With a little tinkering now and then, it has been kept going ever since. It has been decided that its appearance could be improved by restoring the face.

The outstanding officers attended a "spirit of cooperation" luncheon among the Army, Navy and Air Force. This was followed by an outstanding entertainment.

Agreement to work together in the future followed the general pattern of unified defense set forth by the Secretary of Defense.

The Tokyo talks got down to the practical application of the plan to take place in the field in the event of war.

Senators reviewing the conference made no reference to the future of amphibious landings in the Alaska area. Pacific headquarters announced yesterday.

The three commanders represented a vast defense area broadened by the war. General MacArthur commands all land, sea and air forces operating from the Pacific Southwest in a vast area with an outer edge running through Korea, Japan, Philippines and back to the American Samoa group of islands.

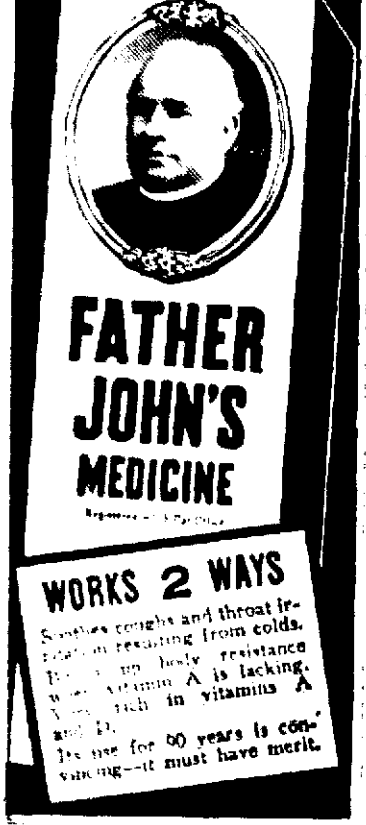

In contrast, beyond Alaska, the joint American-German defense line. Beyond that, the joint Pacific-German defense line. The Netherlands and the Netherlands East Indies are the other line of defense for the U. S.

State Department and a year for the same purpose in the western hemisphere?"

The department has countered protests against closing minor consulates elsewhere with the contention that budget cuts voted by the last Congress left it no alternative.

Martinique was a headache to the State Department and the military command even before Pearl Harbor.

When France fell in 1940, fears were widespread that the sovereignty of the French possessions in the Western Hemisphere might pass to Hitler's Reich.

Finally, in the summer of 1943, Adm. Georges Robert, French high commissioner in Martinique, ordered his command under United States pressure to an appointee named by the French Committee of National Liberation.

Until then U. S. warships and planes kept close watch over the strategically placed island to make sure it didn't become an Axis stronghold from which Nazi submarines might strike at allied shipping.

Later, with the switch to the Free French cause, came an upsurge against the whites in the colonial government—many of whom had been pro-Vichy—and a protest against "exploitation." The Communists took full advantage of this situation and made deep inroads among the dark-skinned natives who make up about 95 per cent of the island's 200,000 inhabitants.

In the 1945 general election the Communists captured 14 of the 36 seats in the General Council, the island's local governing body, and the Socialists won 12. The mayor of Fort De France is a Communist.

Martinique, once a thriving port, is now a wayside ocean stop. Outside the U. S. consular staff, there are only two Americans, one a missionary, living on the island.

Those who argue against closing the consulate concede that its duties are minor. But they say that with the consul the American flag flies as an encouraging sign of American interest in a potential trouble spot if war should come again.

Five Cases Settled In Supreme Court

Five additional cases were announced settled Wednesday in Supreme Court and Justice Bergeon excused jurors until Friday at 10 a. m., recessing court until this morning when actions without jury were continued.

Settled was No. 99, Rudolph Turk, an infant, etc., against Board of Education of the city of Kingston, an action in negligence. No. 45, Jeanette Bell against Abraham Lipskar, malpractice. No. 97, Betty J. Chrisey, an infant, etc., against the Board of Education of the city of Kingston, negligence. No. 80, William E. Reid against Paul Salzfuss, work, labor and services. No. 27, Robert M. Emerick against Frederick P. Braunschweig, to recover rent.

The action brought by Frank Lashier against Rose Schutzbeger, an action to determine claim to real estate and right to use water from a spring at Pine Hill, which was partially tried on Tuesday was continued today.

Real Hot Dogs
Porto Alegre, Brazil (AP) — Alexander Lau, a carpenter, was arrested here under charge of selling "hot dogs" with real dog meat. Lau told the police "I used to kill dogs to meet the shortage of meat and feed my family."

He explained that he got the idea when he saw a man on the street advertising "hot dogs." He thought it would be a good business and started it with real dog meat. The police released Lau as there is no law in Brazil to punish such cases.

Four complaints of acts of mischief in different sections of the city were received by police last night. Each of the acts was attributed by the complainant to "a group of boys."

At 7:30 p. m. a resident of Warren street reported that ash barrels in that area had been dumped. The Kingston City Transportation Corporation complained at 8:13 p. m. that boys had been throwing tomatoes at city buses on Wrentham street near Albany avenue. Garbage cans in the vicinity of Elmendorf street between Brown and TenBroeck avenues were being dumped by boys, according to a complaint received at 9:20 p. m. Finally, at 11:07 p. m. it was reported that three lengths of hose had been stolen from 105 Maiden Lane and that a group of boys had been seen around the yard just before the hose was missed.

In each case, police checked the areas but reported finding no one. However, the hose lengths were found by Patrolman Walter McDonough and Leonard Ellsworth on Wall street near Pearl street and were returned to the owner.

The Kingston City Transportation Corporation complained at 8:13 p. m. that boys had been throwing tomatoes at city buses on Wrentham street near Albany avenue. Garbage cans in the vicinity of Elmendorf street between Brown and TenBroeck avenues were being dumped by boys, according to a complaint received at 9:20 p. m. Finally, at 11:07 p. m. it was reported that three lengths of hose had been stolen from 105 Maiden Lane and that a group of boys had been seen around the yard just before the hose was missed.

In each case, police checked the areas but reported finding no one. However, the hose lengths were found by Patrolman Walter McDonough and Leonard Ellsworth on Wall street near Pearl street and were returned to the owner.

Group of Boys' Blamed for Acts

Four complaints of acts of mischief in different sections of the city were received by police last night. Each of the acts was attributed by the complainant to "a group of boys."

At 7:30 p. m. a resident of Warren street reported that ash barrels in that area had been dumped. DEWEY GREETED BY TOMATOES

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for president, smiles as he speaks from the rear platform of his campaign train at Mt. Vernon, Ill., after a tomato was thrown at the platform. The front of the coat, just above the train rail, bears some evidence of the tomato. An unidentified body guard, holding a bouquet of flowers, peers into the crowd seeking the source of the thrower. Immersion Victim Is Same Person Knifed by Escaper

Marian J. Dunham, 22, of 124 1/2 St. James street, who narrowly escaped drowning in the Hudson river at New York, early Wednesday morning, is the same girl who was stabbed by Morris Gurskuck, 33, alias "Moe Gold," in a Marlborough tavern last spring, it was learned today.

Gurskuck, one of five men who broke out of the county jail last summer, is still the object of a police hunt. He made his escape when the police closed in on him and two others near Monroe, and has been at large since.

Miss Dunham was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh where she recovered from a stab wound in the back. Police said that Gurskuck walked into the tavern and stabbed the girl after trailing her from Newburgh in a taxi.

The New York dispatch to the Freeman, yesterday said that the local girl was rescued from the Hudson at 5:30 a. m. after she had fallen from the New York Weehawken ferry boat Utica as it was in midstream. She was rescued by a crewman of a New York Central railroad tug.

A mother of Miss Dunham's family said today that she was still at a metropolitan area hospital and insofar as is known her condition is not serious.

Miss Dunham told police that she lost her balance and fell from the boat after she had suddenly become ill.

The increase amounts to $5 a week for 1,100 cleaners employed by the firms, with an additional $1 boost October 1, 1949. The cleaners went back to work this morning after a two-weeks strike which greased-out many skyscrapers.

Paris, Oct. 14 (AP)—Western power delegates met today on the Berlin crisis and authoritative sources said they were framing a joint demand for Security Council action to lift the Soviet blockade. The council takes up the Berlin issue again tomorrow. Hope vanished for mediation outside the council with Russia's reported rejection of conciliation efforts by the so-called neutral states.

American, British and French delegates studied the Kremlin's answer to the neutral states' mediation efforts. The content of the Soviet note still was not made public, but western sources said it set back the Berlin dispute to where it was six weeks ago.

Members of the 11-nation Security Council prepared to meet this afternoon on the Palestine situation. A reliable source said they will be asked to crack down harder on both Arabs and Jews to keep the peace.

The council meets at 3 p. m. (9 a. m. E.S.T.). Dr. Ralph Bunche, interim mediator since the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte, is expected to speak.

Britain was expected to demand of Israel's representatives what progress has been made in tracking down the assassins of Count Bernadotte.

The six "neutrals" of the council abandoned their efforts to mediate. Argentine Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia, acting chairman of the council for the Berlin discussions, called the council meeting after receiving Russia's reply to the neutrals' question on what terms would be acceptable to Moscow.

Authoritative sources said it rejected mediation, insisted the Berlin issue was outside the authority of the Security Council, and asked that negotiations revert to the Aug. 30 four-power Moscow agreement. Under this the Russians would raise the blockade. And the western powers would withdraw their currency from Berlin, leaving only Soviet zone currency under four-power supervision.

Western power spokesmen did not comment on whether this might represent a retreat from additional Soviet demands made at the Berlin level of the negotiations, on which the talks broke down. The Russians in Berlin demanded the right to control air traffic to Berlin as part of the currency control.

Decorating Fund For Christmas off To Good Start

The Christmas Decorating Fund is getting off to a good start. This report was made today by Harry Reppert, general chairman of the committee in charge. The district children are being assisted by several workers in each area. The early response by mail has been very encouraging with several new contributors included.

On Monday, October 18, the general committee for the Christmas program will meet to make more final plans. At that time sub-committees will handle the home decorating contest, the school room decorating contest, and the opening ceremonies will be appointed.

Mr. Reppert wants to remind everyone that the program this year is a city-wide civic celebration. The lighting portion of the program will be arranged on the basis of city-wide effectiveness. If funds are sufficient it is hoped that the unlighted portions of Broadway can be decorated this year. All contributions will be accepted on the basis of a city-wide program.

For W.A.C. Reserve

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Col. Mary A. Hallaren, head of the Women's Army Corps, advocated today formation of a W.A.C. reserve to provide a pool from which women could be called to duty by the army in an emergency. Many former members of the W.A.C. have expressed interest in joining reserve units, Col. Hallaren said at a news conference.

French Strike Seems Waning

Paris, Oct. 14 (AP)—The French Communist strike offensive appeared to be ebbing today, but the costly coal mine stoppage continued. Rail traffic was reported almost normal. Throughout the nation rail workers were going back to their jobs after a week of sporadic walkouts.

In Paris, taxis reappeared after a week-long drivers' strike. In eastern France 40,000 iron miners and metal workers returned after a three-week stoppage.

The nationwide coal strike remained the biggest problem. The 11-day walkout of 335,000 miners has cost France almost 1,500,000 tons of coal.

No fighting was reported between idle miners and police, but neither were negotiations underway to end the stoppage.

Informed labor observers said the Communists, failing to pull off a general rail strike, now were concentrating on keeping the coal strike going.

New baroque pearls forsake their allegiance to all-white for rainbow-like tints. Designed to enhance the sparkle of tinted pearls, worn like ropes, are clips studded with brilliant and colored stones which are used to clasp a long necklace close to the throat.

Fan-shaped earrings, often paired with matching dress clips, are a new conceit for fall which comes richly bejeweled with make-believe gems. Color flashes from a gem-studded bracelet which dangles a golden pill box. White knobby hat pins add glimmers of gold, as eye-catching as a pawnbroker's, to new bonnets.

Fabric Furs

FABRICS which are able to convince hard-to-fool trappers into believing that cloth is fine fur are science's latest gift to budgeted school girls. Caracul-cured rayon and leopard-stencilled cotton-and-wool mixtures make the two weather-proofed coats shown which are teamed with matching fur-type halo hats. Fur-type leopard coat in foreground, which is lined and trimmed with white pile fabric, owes its spots to expert stencilling. Coat in background, lined and trimmed with green wool fleece, is made of a deep-pile rayon. The surfaces of this fabric have been crimped and dyed gray in a roller process to resemble caracul. — EPSIE KINARD, NEA Fashion Editor.

Calls Reds Imperialists

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin today called the Russians expansionists—"as imperialists as the Czar ever was." "We seek no power," he told the National Union of Manufacturers. "We have no desire to upset their system, but we must resist any attempt on their part to destroy our liberties." Of Britain herself, Bevin said: "We have ceased to be an imperialist race. We dominate nobody. We accept equality in religion, in color, in status. And in the areas which we still control we are directing our energies towards independence and self government."

The World Today

Back in the war the second world conflict started by Germany in a generation the allies won a triumph which they would not have won without the Reich that never again would it be able to wage aggression.

Naturally destruction of the German war potential involved the wiping out of all arsenals and factories capable of material contribution to armaments. Many of these factories were destroyed by bombing, and those which survived were placed under agreement to be dismantled and removed as reparations.

It wasn't foreign, of course, that the conflict was going to be followed by either struggle among the allies themselves—the "cold war" which shortly grew out of Communist aggression. So in the flush of victory over Hitlerism the Allies made agreements which not only disarmed Germany's military potential but cut heavily into the ordinary industrial potential.

When the Russian drive against western Europe got into full swing it became apparent that defense depended on economic recovery of the war-stricken countries. The corollary to this was the Marshall Plan for rehabilitation. The plan had become the target of the Bolsheviks. Their offense is aimed at preventing the program from succeeding and so rendering western Europe incapable of defending itself.

Along with this development has come a far more widespread realization that before the World War Germany was one of the keystones of European economy. It is clear that general rehabilitation depends heavily on German recovery.

This is a very disturbing thought for countries like France, Britain and Belgium, which twice have stood the brunt of the Reich's initial onslaughts. Unhappy France, in particular, has been fearful of putting the Germans on their feet again industrially.

However, a remarkable and vastly important change has come about very recently in the viewpoint of the western European countries. And yesterday it appeared that both France and Belgium were prepared to halt the dismantling of important German plants pending a review of the part which the Reich can play in European economic recovery.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman came out in support of this procedure. That was 24 hours after he had talked with Paul Hoffman, U. S. administrator for the European Recovery Program. Meantime Hoffman had gone to London for a conference with Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who also is said to have agreed reluctantly to the proposal.

Now this doesn't necessarily mean that there will be any alteration in the German reparations program as originally laid down. A review may not change the situation. Still, the mere fact that the western Allies appear prepared to reconsider the whole German situation is in itself a momentous development.

It isn't going too far, I believe, to say that world peace will depend heavily on how this problem is handled. The western democracies may find it possible to meet Moscow's threat by putting Germany on its feet—always, of course, with proper safeguards against the re-creation of a strong war potential in the Reich.

SHOKAI

Shokai, Oct. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fromm, Brooklyn couple who formerly for several years had a summer place near the Bridge, were earlier in the village center Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Fromm are visiting at the William Quick home in Tonnore.

Mrs. Anthony Pasco, local storekeeper, has had the exterior of her residence on the Trail painted white, thus harmonizing with her attractive place of business next door.

Following the offering at the Sunday morning service of the Shokai Reformed Church, a pleasing baritone solo, entitled "The Lord is my Light," was sung by Stanley Cons, a member of the Germantown Reformed Church choir. Mr. Cons, who is also a member of the Catskill Club, was ably accompanied on the piano by Miss Ruth Scott, supervising teacher of music in the Saugerties schools and pianist of the Catskill Club.

William "Billy" Osterhoudt, Brown's Station war veteran and formerly an ironworker on the Lackawanna waterworks project, is now employed at Denversville where New York city is building a big reservoir on the East Branch of the Delaware river. And, believe it or not, Billy makes the round trip each working day in his spiffy, light blue Chevrolet.

Echoes of Past

October 14, 1869. Upper Esopus valley getting straightened out again following tremendous freshets on the 4th when local streams were two feet higher than recalled by oldest inhabitants. Democratic assembly convention at Shokai named Charles H. Crook for assembly and Horace W. Montrose for school commissioner. Report of James Ketcham, county superintendent of poor, revealed only $94.49 appropriated for poor as expenses for board and apparel at "poor farm" was $38.12 per year. Taxative of farm products, or 10 cents and 5 mills per diem children at the farm were taught by one of Superintendent Ketcham's daughters. Poorhouse property on the premises inventoried $7,087.51. Pauline Rice, says her cousin was astonished both at the result, which her husband stopped drinking when they became engaged and the rapidly with which he took it up again as soon as they were married.

Jane Green, green actress, has been chosen "Miss Valentine of 1949," which explains her appearance in a picture of her. The Ma's Tie Foundation picked her to reign over their New York convention.

ers of the Karen Lundin place in the east end, have built an attractive bungalow in the rear of their residence lot and also are fixing up facilities for a home bakery and ten room. Last Sunday, the Rev. Charles Bennett preached in the M. E. Church, while the local pastor, the Rev. Wayne Williams, took Mr. Bennett's services at Woodstock on Wednesday. Mrs. Daniel Nichols of Richmond Hill, L. I., has been a guest for several days at the Katie Oakley home in the Acorn Hill section of Olive. Mrs. Nichols, formerly of Broadhead and daughter of the late with her Woodruff, taught school at Tonnore and Krumville many years ago.

The Round Doubt

Only once has this writer seen in print the above spelling for the Rondout Kill, that central Ulster stream which originates as a small trout brook in the wilds of Denning and flows deep and powerfully (most of the time) into the Hudson below the city of Kingston. This was contained in an excerpt from the ancient and perhaps mostly volumes of land papers at Albany. Thus, one believing amongst these official archives might come upon an entry, under date of September 4, 1876, recording the purchase by Thomas Quick of a grant "at ye Mombineus at a grant 'at ye Rondout river." Also Charlot Claessen, 60 acres, and Aaron France, 32 acres, under date of 1885, however, there is mention of a grant of 200 acres on "both sides of Rondout Kill to Therk Claessen Dewitt," while another entry of same date refers to the creek simply as "The Rondout." It appears that the use of the word "Kill" was continued for at least another century as the Rochester town records of 1786 refer to a "draft of the Rondout Kill from a certain fall called Hunck," indicating that the town in early days embraced a part of what is now Wawarsing. Possibly a leisurely perusal of the old land papers might reveal still another spelling, such as "ye Hunck fall on ye Round Out." So, we can say with the poet, "What's in a name," just so long as people know what you're talking about.

British Film Exhibitors To Boycott Ben Hecht

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—British film exhibitors have decided to boycott the work of Ben Hecht, American writer-producer, because of what they term his anti-British attitude on the Palestine question. The Cinema Exhibitors Association, representing nearly 5,000 movie houses, adopted a resolution yesterday asking film distributors to "withdraw from circulation in Britain any films with which Hecht was associated." Hecht's quoted comments on Britain and British policy concerning Palestine have been condemned by several British newspapers.

Mawak Child Study Club

The regular meeting of the Mawak Child Study Club was held at the home of Mrs. Donald Schoonmaker, Accord, recently. The discussion entitled, "Planning the Daily Schedule," was led by Mrs. Charles LaFol.

Several points of view were provoked concerning the effects upon the family and children of a rigid or lax schedule. It was concluded that the temperament of the members in the family were decisive factors in schedule planning. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Stanley Christian at Kerkonson October 19. Miss Everice Parsons, county agent will be the guest speaker. She has chosen "Mental Hygiene" as her topic.

College Club Lecture Friday at K.H.S.

Final reports on plans for the lecture of Mrs. Induk Pakh at Kingston High School Auditorium Friday, 8 p. m., were reported at the meeting of College Women's Club Tuesday night. Mrs. Pakh is being presented by the club for the benefit of its scholarship fund. The club feels the fund is an important one for public support since it is the only group in the city with the exception of one high school club, that provides money to assist a girl in furthering her education. A scholarship is presented at graduation each June to the high school girl graduate deserving of assistance in her college course.

Tickets for the lecture may be obtained from any member or at the door. Mrs. Pakh, a Korean, came to Kingston highly recommended by the East and West Society as well as local residents who have heard her speak on previous occasions. Her topic will be "My Country and My People."

During the business meeting Tuesday night at the First Dutch Reformed Church House, Miss Bevanne M. Cohen, who has her bachelor of arts degree from New York State Teachers College, Albany, was welcomed as a new member.

Miss Jeanne DuBois urged members of College Club to take the tuberculosis X-ray and become one of the 100 per cent club in the city.

Mrs. Vincent Connelly spoke of the regional A.A.U.W. conference October 23 at Hotel Syracuse, Syracuse. Mrs. J. Richard Shultz reported on the lecture program.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. Allan Longshore of the Ulster County Health Department, who gave an illustrated lecture on his work in Mexico under the jurisdiction of the American Friends Society. He explained that many colleges give credit for work in foreign lands with the society and said that the groups do whatever the country deems best.

Dr. Longshore worked in Mexico during the summer of 1942 when the group of about 20 students worked to provide better homes and living conditions in the rural areas especially in North-western Mexico and near Vera Cruz. He traced the history of relations between Mexico and the United States and noted that the first contact as a friendly neighbor came through Dwight Morrow, appointed ambassador in 1927. He spoke of the superstition and fear of Americans still felt in the rural areas.

The speaker pointed out the extreme poverty of the people with generally poor dwelling places with the exception of the church and school in many villages. He spoke of the influence of the school teacher in the community through whom permission to work was often obtained.

He showed many beautifully colored slides of the countryside and went down by the group.

The next meeting will be November 9 when Dr. William Haggerty, president of New Paltz State Teachers College, will speak.

Hostesses at the meeting Tuesday were the Misses: George James, Betty Blair, Harold Darling, Andrew Giddys, Arthur Huzenbush and the Misses: Flora Davison, Helen Flicker and Margaret Mullen.

Plans are being made for the annual Halloween Party at the Youth Center, Y.M.C.A. The party will be held Saturday night, October 30 and elaborate plans for the program and decorations are completed.

The delegates to the state convention at Saratoga in August made reports of the three days session. During the past year, the Department of New York assumed a responsibility in accepting from the American society the task of working especially for the children's ward in Memorial Hospital. Children from all over the world come to this hospital. The goal set was $5,000 but $9,000 was given to the hospital at the convention.

This fund was raised by the combined efforts of every county in the state. Kingston unit gave $65 to the project and the Ulster County Committee, $167.75.

The rehabilitation program of the state is a large one. The amount of work done was estimated at $243,493.07 last year. Child Welfare and other large programs spent $106,993.76 to benefit 18,614 children and aid 6,006 families.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by the October committee. Mrs. McNamee, Miss Mary Keresman and Miss Dulin.

FAIR DIVISION OF WEDDING PRESENTS

In the present-day prevalence of divorce, it is natural I suppose that questions such as the following should be asked: "We are getting a divorce and are having great trouble deciding who gets which wedding presents. It is almost unpleasant. He thinks that most of the things should go to him because the wife was sent to us by people on his list. But we both agree to abide by your arbitration."

It is true that wedding presents always are sent to the bride and she can claim them all if she chooses to do so. Ethically, and according to best taste, however, there are definite items which you should concede to him. First of all, let him have items sent to him from his fraternity brothers or business associates and obviously chosen for his special use as well as the heirlooms that belonged to his family. Everything else belongs to you.

In The Movies
Dear Mrs. Post: When there is no usher to show a man and woman to their seats in the movies, which one of them should go down the aisle first?

Answer: The man is supposed to go ahead if he can be of help. (Making it a rule to let him go rather than the lady if he is guided by an usher, she goes first.)

The Gravy Ladle
Dear Mrs. Post: After using the ladle for gravy, could it be returned to the gravyboat with the handle resting against the side or in the spout?

Answer: The handle rests more securely in the spout. If this has been poured over, then the side would be necessary.

Thanking a Waiter
Dear Mrs. Post: Please tell us if it is proper to thank a waiter? Answer: It would be unusual for routine service. But when he does anything beyond this—for example, brings you a fresh napkin or spoon if you've dropped yours or exchanges something or helps you put on your coat—then you naturally say, "Thank you."

Eating the Centerpiece
Dear Mrs. Post: When the centerpiece is a bowl of fresh fruit, is it expected that guests will eat it? So many tables are set with fruit instead of flowers.

Answer: Certainly, but at a sit-down meal not until the end of the meal; at a buffet any time they please.

How to arrange the table for breakfast, luncheon, dinner or supper is described in Mrs. Post's booklet, No. 504, "The Etiquette of Table Setting." Roentgen Speaks To Musical Society
An informal talk by Engelbert Roentgen, first cellist with the Metropolitan Opera House orchestra, to members of the Musical Society a view into his personal acquaintances with many great musicians. Mr. Roentgen was guest speaker at the first meeting of the society this fall Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Raymond H. Rignall, Linderman avenue.

Of particular interest were Mr. Roentgen's memoirs as a young man of Grieg and Brahms. He noted that Grieg was at his best in composing in a national idiom while Brahms, the Hungarian, was at his best when not composing national music. He gave many interesting stories in connection with his work and life in a family devoted to music.

In conclusion Mr. Roentgen chose to play a Grieg Sonata for cello and piano which as a young man he played with the famous composer. Inez Carol was pianist.

Mrs. A. Noble Graham, program chairman of the evening introduced Mr. Roentgen. Hostesses were Mrs. Lester Decker and Mrs. Mary Chidester.

During the short business meeting at which Mrs. Leroy Vogt presided, the club voted to enroll Mrs. William MacGregor Mills as honorary member.

The next meeting will be a book review study, "You're Only Human Once," written by Grace Moore. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Clyde Wondery, Emerson street, October 27.

'Spider' Thompson to Meet Ray Fields, Crack Utica Lightweight

Upstate Ace Holds Decision Over Canada's Ronnie Lacelle

John "Spider" Thompson, Buffalo's gift to the amateur boxing world, has been matched with Ray Fields, crack Utica lightweight, conqueror of Ronnie Lacelle, in the headline bout for the next B'nai B'rith boxing show on Thursday, Oct. 21, Ben Becker, director of Adirondack A.A.U. boxing, announced today.

Thus, in effect, Thompson gets the chance to establish his superiority over Lacelle by remote control.

Fields, a hard hitting young prospect, outpointed Lacelle right in his home halliwck in Ottawa, Canada, Becker said.

Expect Real Brawl
"Kingston fans are going to see another great scrap," the Adirondack director said. "Fields showed plenty of class in beating Lacelle by a decisive margin and you can be sure he'll give Thompson a real brawl."

Jim Hardy Set
Two other five rounders were announced by Becker as follows: Jim Hardy, 149, of the Berkshire School at Canaan, N. Y., against Mickey Russo, 146, of Highland, N. Y.

Marney Vega, 147, Utica against Billy Barneson, 145, of the Berkshire School.

Hardy dropped a close decision to Fred Depelino in a spectacular five rounder on the last card and established himself as a real crowd pleaser. Russo is a native of Highland who has been compiling a great record in upstate rings.

Two Newcomers Set
Vega and Barneson, two of the better young prospects in the Adirondack sector, will be making their first appearance in Kingston in line with the A.A.U.'s policy of introducing new faces in Kingston.

Boxing fans should turn out in record number to see Thompson, one of America's top ranking amateurs, vie against the conqueror of the man many thought he had beaten—Lacelle, the handsome Canadian.

This will be a four-star headliner, strictly an original, since Fields and Thompson have never crossed each other's path.

"The balance of the card will be announced tomorrow."

Belfast Flyweight Will Defend Crown Here Next January

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Flyweight Champion Rinty Monaghan of Belfast is coming to the United States to defend his 112-pound title against Dado Marino of Honolulu, probably at Los Angeles in early January.

This is the first answer to the reorganized Twentieth Century Sporting Club by the rival Tournament of Champions which will promote the Monaghan-Marino go.

Promoter Andy Niederreiter of the T. of C. said he planned to operate in all sections of the country and even in Europe, if the right bouts materialized.

Although details have not been arranged, the Monaghan-Marino bout probably will be staged outdoors at the Los Angeles Coliseum shortly after New Year's Day.

Last in 1939

The last flyweight title scrap in America was held at Oakland, Calif., October 4, 1939, when Jackie Jurich defeated Small Montana. At that time Peter Kane was generally accepted, outside the U. S., as world champ.

The crown passed to Jackie Paterson of Scotland and was awarded to Monaghan after Paterson, weakened in a weight-making ordeal, failed to go through with a scheduled bout with Paterson in 1947.

Monaghan defeated Marino at London, October 20, 1947, and won recognition by the N.B.A. Later the British Boxing Board of Control reinstated Paterson as champ but Monaghan won the undisputed title by knocking out Paterson in the seventh round of a Belfast fight, March 23.

Marino has been trying to get Monaghan in the ring ever since last year's defeat. When he came home to Honolulu after that fight, he was given a hero's welcome.

A Great Citizen, Golfer Passes On:

Ray Sutliff's death comes as a great shock to the community in general but its tragic impact is greatest upon his large following of golf cronies and friends—the men who played and lived with him in his lighter moments.

There was a pleasant breath of Americana that swept across his untanned features. We always regarded Ray as the typical American business man who had lifted himself by the boot straps from a humble beginning to one of the city's leading citizens.

Friendly, affable by nature he loved life and quaffed of its full measure. He was a great salesman not only for his own business but for golf and Twaalfskill Golf Club in particular. During his term as club president, and as a real working member of numerous committees, he had devoted considerable time and if the truth is known, money, to furthering Twaalfskill activities. Twaalfskill can hardly seem the same without him.

He Played Golf for Fun:
As a golfer he was in that densely populated segment that once in a while dips into the 90s, on rarer occasions into the 70s, but most of the time in the 80s. It was always a real pleasure to tour the course in a foursome that included Ray Sutliff. He had a fine sense of humor, kept a scorecard meticulously, and never deluded himself about the extent of his own game. He was quick to admit that he wasn't a golf hotshot but few men derive the sheer enjoyment that Sutliff did from the game.

On week-ends and on days when he could tramp up an excuse to get away from the office, Sutliff was a familiar figure on Twaalfskill's golf fairways. You could generally find him in a foursome that invariably included Dan Shufeldt, Walton Fitzgerald and the irrepressible Lou Smith. These fellows played the game hard but cleanly. They had their minor tiffs, but all in good fun, and they were solid friends—one of the standard foursomes of the club.

Revived a Golf Career:
If it is possible to single out any one man in local golfdom and say he was our best friend—then surely it must have been Ray Sutliff. He was responsible for reviving our interest in golf and transforming us into an absolute addict of the game, a transformation, incidentally, that caused no end of eye brow lifting among the bowling and baseball gang.

It was three years ago that Ray called us to his office one day and said he thought we should take up golf seriously. We had kicked around with the game for a couple of months during the summer of 1942 but three years of service wiped out almost all recollections of the game which, as a baseball player, we used to think was absolutely silly.

Sutliff had done a good job of salesmanship on us in the past, five Chevies in ten years, and he convinced us again that maybe we should take a more active part in golf, should cover it better as a sports-writer (detailed reporting of golf was almost non-existent at that time). We took up the game and Ray personally escorted us around Twaalfskill the first time we ever played there.

A Genuine Article:
In the days that followed he took a great interest in our golf, even offered to pay for a complete set of lessons by the pro. In countless other ways he showed his appreciation for what we tried to do for golf. And he never once questioned our treatment of golf news or never once squawked about publicity.

We could say many other fine things about this splendid citizen of Kingston. There were two traits about the man, however, that exemplified his class, his zeal, his honesty of purpose and that little extra something that made him a success in business, civic, social and sports circles. He always turned in a score card. He never shirked his duties as a member of any committee.

Look around you, golfers. How many do you find like that?

Turner Replaces Corriden As New York Yankee Coach

Following on the heels of Casey Stengel's appointment as manager of the New York Yankees for the next two seasons, the club announced yesterday that Jim Turner, former major league pitcher and manager of the Portland team of the Pacific Coast League, had been named coach.

Turner, who pitched for Stengel in Boston, replaces Johnny "Red" Corriden, coach, who came to the Yankees with Charlie Dressen. It is expected that Dressen will remain with the Yankee organization.

Turner was a member of the Yankee squad in the 1942 World Series.

Del Baker Latest Bosox To Feel Axe in Shakeup

Boston, Oct. 14 (AP)—It's almost a cliché but Boston Red Sox Owner Tom Yawkey, Vice President Eddie Collins, General Manager Joe Cronin, and Manager Joe McCarthy will be around next season—but don't bet on anyone else except possibly some of the better players.

Yawkey couldn't hide his disappointment over losing the American League pennant, and much of the blame is being passed around to Sox and farm officials.

The shakeup in the Sox organization which began before the club was beaten out in an unprecedented playoff appears likely to continue.

"Three members of the organization are gone and the Sox, rejecting all questions, indicate the three resigned."

The three disagree and say, in effect "we didn't jump, we were pushed."

Cuyler to Coach
Latest to go is Del Baker, veteran coach and onetime Detroit

Tiger manager, who will be replaced by Bruen (Kiki) Cuyler, erstwhile star National League outfielder and more recently a Southern Association manager. Cuyler played under McCarthy when the latter managed the Chicago Cubs.

The Sox office, reporting the change, said Baker had resigned. Baker retorted he had been dismissed in a telephone conversation with Cronin.

George (Specs) Toporcer also said he wanted "to stay in baseball" after the Sox said that he had resigned, that his health was poor and that his farm director's job had been filled by scout Johnny Murphy.

"My health is fine," Toporcer told friends after he had been replaced.

Toporcer's resignation-dismissal followed by a few days the firing of Assistant General Manager Phil Troy, who had been with the Sox for 18 years.

Cronin and others in the Sox organization fended off all inquiries concerning Troy. But Troy told these friends:

"Tom Yawkey called me into his office and told me, 'Phil, I hate to do this but you don't fit into our contemplated reorganizational plans.'"

The Sox later announced Troy "no longer is with the club and his duties, without the title of assistant general manager, will be assumed by Richard O'Connell."

O'Connell has had three years experience as business manager of the Lynn Red Sox, a Boston farm in the Class B New England League.

More Are Due
Earlier, Nemi Liebold had resigned as manager of the top Boston farm, the Louisville Colonels of the American Association, which finished a decided last in season competition.

Yawkey is determined to have a winner, but his farm system doesn't seem to be developing any crops.

So you can look for some trades and more resignations or dismissals.

He's Practicing His Scales

This hep-catish tuna-crooner, giving out with "O Sole Mio" from Porgie and Bess, is having his voice recorded in Chicago. A movie, "Voice of the Deep," will feature underwater sounds. But, even though he's whaling on porpoise, he won't be able to hear himself—he's hard of hearing.

Red Wings Win Opener

Detroit, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings were off to a flying start in the new National Hockey League campaign today, a 3-1 victory over Chicago's Black Hawks in the league opener.

It was thanks largely to a pair of defensemen who got only 11 goals between them all last season when the Red Wings finished as runners-up to the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Wings and Hawks lifted the lid on the 1948-49 season here last night. New York plays at Montreal tonight.

With 10,780 fans watching from Olympia Stadium's 12,600 seats, Detroit's smallest opening game crowd since before the war—the Wings punched two third-period goals past Chicago's new netminder, Sugar Jim Henry, to take a hard-earned decision.

One was a neat piece of slick-work by red-haired Len Kelly. Kelly came off the boards at the side of the rink, skirted Chicago defenseman Ralph Natrass, feinted Henry out of position and hooked in a shot that cracked a 1-1-1 tie.

Before the final stanza was over, rookie center Max McNab of the Red Wings No. 1 line backhanded a rebound shot home to clinch the decision.

The veteran defenseman Jack Stewart scored Detroit's initial goal in the opening minute of the second period on a 45-foot shot off McNab's passout. Chicago's Gus Bodnar tied it with a 35-foot angle shot 2 1/2 minutes before the period ended.

Babe Didrickson to Meet Betsy Rawls in Texa Open

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 14 (AP)—Mrs. George (Babe) Didrickson Zabarias meets Texas' Betsy Rawls today in the third round of the Women's Open here.

Yesterday Mrs. Zabarias fired a 68 to better the course record for women's par for the second straight day. Her string of eight birdies eliminated Beverly Hanson of Riverside, Calif., 5-4.

Miss Rawls defeated Betty McKinnon of Texarkana, Tex., 3-1. Modelist Polly Rife of Fort Worth meets Patty Berg of Minneapolis, Minn., plays Mrs. H. T. Ray Flaherty Puts Blame on Topping For Recent Ouster

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 14 (AP)—Ray Flaherty said today he was fired as coach of the New York Yankees professional football team after Owner Dan Topping had given away four of his best players.

Returning to his home here with "no plans" for the rest of this season, Flaherty said he agreed last winter to give up seven Yankee players "to help redistribute the strength" of the All-America conference.

"At the same time," he said, "Cleveland also agreed to give seven and Los Angeles two. The San Francisco 49ers flatly refused to give any."

Later, however, other clubs approached Topping asking for more help. Flaherty said:

"Without a single word of consultation with me," Flaherty declared, "Topping promptly gave away four more players—including four of the best men I had; boys I had banked strongly on for what I now believe would have been a division championship season for the Yanks."

He said the players were Guard Dick Barwegen, Tackle Nate Johnson and backs Eddie Procop and Dick Ottele.

Flaherty said he protested the move to Topping and refused to accept responsibility.

With four of his best men gone and five more injured in early games, the Yankees began to lose and he was ousted, Flaherty said.

The Yanks lost three out of 14 games under Flaherty in 1946 and two of 14 last year.

Flaherty said he had "a couple of irons in the fire for next year." In New York Topping was not available for comment on Flaherty's assertions. He had asked for Flaherty's resignation on Sept. 17.

Special Archery Season Dates Are Set for State

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Long bow hunters seeking deer and bear do not have to compete with gun-bearing nimrods this fall in New York state hunting areas.

A special two-week archery season opened October 5 in the Adirondacks. It ends the day before the regular firearm season starts October 20.

Similar special seasons for archers are scheduled to open November 1 in the Catskills and November 10 in the southern part of the state.

Westchester county was the only area of the state having a special archery season before this year. Archers may hunt buck in Westchester from November 15 to December 15 this year.

Ben Hogan Heads Parade In $15,000 Glendale Open

Glendale, Calif., Oct. 14 (AP)—Ben Hogan, who hasn't been beaten in tournament play in southern California since January of 1946, heads the parade today as play begins in the $15,000 Glendale Open.

Hogan finished second that year in the Los Angeles Open at nearby Riviera Country Club—nearly as miles go in this area—and proceeded to win the 1947 and 1948 Los Angeles events and then the U. S. National Open at the same course last June.

The Glendale tournament scene is the Oakmont Country Club, a 6,700-yard par 72 layout where the touring pros and a sprinkling of California amateurs will stroke 72 holes, winding up Sunday.

Most of the better known pros are here for Glendale's first night into high money purse golf.

Astor's Newport Villa Will Be Sold Today

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—John Jacob Astor's Newport, R. I., villa, Chetwode, finally will be sold today, his attorney said.

The attorney, H. Howard Babcock, said the deal would be completed this afternoon at his office with James O'Donnell of Middletown, R. I., as the purchaser.

O'Donnell, a drug store owner, bid $70,000 for the 46-year-old mansion last July. The bid first was accepted, then rejected, and finally reconsidered.

The servant shortage reportedly influenced Astor's decision to make the sale. He bought the villa in 1933 for $150,000.

Confers With Montgomery

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—Gen. Bernard Montgomery, chief of the general staff of the British Army, conferred today with Field Marshal Viscount Mountbatten, recently named chief of the Western European Allied Forces Command. The War Office refused comment. There had been speculation, however, that Montgomery and Mountbatten would discuss the possibility of linking Portuguese defenses to those of the allies, made up of Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The capital investment of the U. S. oil industry is placed at 20 billion dollars.

Britain, China Demand Israel Report on Slaying

Paris, Oct. 14 (AP)—Britain and China demanded in the Security Council today that Israel report quickly on what progress has been made in her investigation of the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte.

The two powers asked in a draft resolution that Israel also indicate "the measures taken with regard to negligence on the part of officials or other factors affecting the crime."

John J. MacDonald, U. S. consul and chairman of the Three-Power Consular Truce Commission in Jerusalem, reported to the council that Jewish Military Governor Bernard Joseph led "a deliberate Jewish campaign to discredit the truce commission and the acting mediator." Dr. Ralph Bunche of the United States, who said this campaign is developing along lines of the attack launched against Count Bernadotte, the mediator, before he was shot to death in Jerusalem last month.

Bunche himself charged before the council that Jewish authorities took insufficient measures to protect Bernadotte. He said that the Jewish authorities were well planned, carefully timed assassination aimed directly at the life of the mediator. Bunche, now acting mediator, told the council. He said Israeli authorities have given him no official report on the progress of the investigation of the murder of Bernadotte, who was killed in Jerusalem Sept. 17 by a group from the Jewish Stern Gang.

Britain and France were reported ready to submit a resolution calling for tougher U. N. action against Jews and Arabs breaking the truce. The council earlier voted, 8 to 0, to consider means of more strict enforcement of the truce. Syria, the Ukraine and Russia abstained, with Syria and Russia contending Bunche's report contained nothing new.

Bunche, now interim mediator, described the murder of Bernadotte to the Security Council. He said the crime was "planned by the 'Rothschild Front,' an arm of the Stern gang. He said the Sternists had carried on a campaign against the mediator and the mediation work through daily press releases."

On a visit to Jerusalem a week before the Jews killed him, Bernadotte was picked by "young men and women of the Stern Gang," Bunche said. He went on:

Episcopal Radio Series on Friday

'The Barretts of Wimpole Street' Is Third Play to Be Broadcast

The third coast-to-coast program in the radio series "Great Scenes From Great Plays," sponsored by the Episcopal families of Kingston and vicinity, over Station WKNY (MBS station) on Friday evening from 8 to 8:30, will be "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

When Rudolf Besier wrote "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" it was almost 100 years ago that he had Basil Rathbone and Beatrice Straight in mind for the leading roles. In fact the tall, handsome Basil Rathbone did play the part of Robert Browning in the long run of the play on Broadway several years ago, and won unqualified acclaim from the critics.

He is best known to radio audiences for his long successful portrayal of Sherlock Holmes over the air as well as on the screen. Beatrice Straight, a charming newcomer to the radio audience, won her spurs to Broadway stardom first as Lady McDuff in the Michael Redgrave production of "Macbeth," and subsequently as the star of "Eastward in Eden."

Currently she is Mr. Rathbone's leading lady in "The Heiress." Not miracle healing but medicine for the soul is the underlying theme of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." This is why this religious message stresses the fact that through the help of God and the church, by seeking the advice of an experienced clergyman, many have found their way to better physical health through better health of the mind.

Like the other plays in the weekly series, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" is produced by the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church with the cooperation of the 800 members of the Episcopal Actors' Guild. While the entire series provides a high level in radio entertainment, it shows also the living, working practical helpfulness of the church in dealing with human troubles in our disturbed modern age.

They were middle-class people, and the problem there was to bring the face of the party, in Communist jargon, to them so they realized they were in touch with the Communist Party, that it was well aware of them. . . . Baptists Are Against

Peacetime Conscription

Jamestown, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—The New York State Baptist Convention voted today against peacetime military conscription and urged its churches to uphold members who register as conscientious objectors.

The action was taken by voice vote of about 500 delegates from the state's 781 churches which have a total membership of 225,000.

Soviet Film Has Prague in Loud Praise of Merits

Prague, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Russian Question—that's the name of the film—has Prague and the rest of the country on its ideological ears.

The film is one made from Constantin Simonov's play of the same name, which portrays American publishers as scoundrels who won't let reporters write the truth about Russia.

The film had a premiere in Prague and 36 other Czechoslovak cities simultaneously and appears to be in for a fairly long run.

The critics all praised it of course. But the manner of praise struck a sour note and those who dwell on the technical excellence of the film were ripped sharply over their typewriter knuckles by ideological leaders.

The film has a pretty fair brand of technical excellence, at that, certainly as much as a Hollywood film about Russia. The montage back of the taxi window which shows it traversing Broadway gave the impression of lights and people and traffic and it was only a carping American who noticed the "Rox" sign appearing a half dozen times, and who figured out that it took the cab 15 minutes to make it from the Rox to the Brasserie.

And somewhere there may be city rooms like the one portrayed in the headquarters of Harry Smith's anti-Russian publication. All the Russian actors had to pronounce it Garry, of course, because there are no h's in Russian. But all in all, the film's technical details were satisfactory enough.

Were Taken to Task
However, the film's critics who mentioned only that were taken to task by Jaromir Horce, editor of the left-wing youth paper Mlada Fronta. He said the film was a textbook unveiling the stupidity of the "Socialist ghost" that western imperialism was foisting on the world.

It unmasked, he said, the true face of American capitalism and warned against new Hitler and new Goebbels.

The Communist newspaper Rude Pravo (Red Right) took up the hue and cry and the official party line was that those who saw only technical excellence in the film didn't belong in the field of film criticism, and better find something else to do.

The film's opening scenes are filled with newsworthy shots of the United States, attempting to show contrasts between night clubbers and share croppers, skyscrapers and tenements, and picturing police clubbing strikers, strikers pouring out milk, and Klansmen burning a fiery cross.

It winds up with American tanks being loaded into ships (apparently sent a year ago to Turkey), and other alleged American preparations for war. The closing shot shows Prime Minister Stalin on a balcony, saluting troops.

There is applause at the fade-out.

The common use of headlines in newspapers came after the Mexican War.

Tickets Cost Rupees

Probe Charges Against Leaders

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—A four-man C.I.O. committee began investigation today of right wing charges against the leadership of the Greater New York City Industrial Union Council.

Reporters were barred from the meeting. A C.I.O. spokesman said no statement on the investigation will be made until after a report to the executive committee on Nov. 17.

The right-wing leadership of the New York State Federation and council leaders opposed to the council's policies, charged violation of the C.I.O. constitution and rules governing conduct of member unions.

The charges were filed Sept. 27 with C.I.O. President Philip Murray.

At that time Murray was told that the council's left-wing leadership was interfering in affairs of the transport workers, utility workers, and retail, wholesale and department store employees and that the council leadership was violating C.I.O. policy in politics.

Although the C.I.O. executive board has endorsed the candidacy of President Truman, the left wing leadership is supporting Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive party candidate.

The four-man board appointed by Murray to investigate the charges includes:

O. A. Knight, head of the Oil Workers; Martin Wagner, president of the Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers; Joseph Froesch, president of the Federation of Glass, Ceramic and Silica Sand Workers; and L. F. Buchanan, president of the Rubber Workers.

The Nov. 17 executive meeting will be held in Portland, Oregon. The city will be the scene of the organization's annual convention.

Won't Divorce Husband for Father's Fortune

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Pretty, blonde Mrs. Danise Weiskopf, 34, would rather lose her third share of her father's $2,500,000 estate than divorce her husband, her attorney said today.

The attorney, Samson Selig, said that "under no circumstances" would Mrs. Reid meet the provision of her father's will that she divorce Robert H. Reid to be eligible for an annual income estimated at $30,000.

The will of Weiskopf, a distillery executive who died last March 22 at the age of 74, directed that she be cut off with only $2,500 a year unless she divorces her husband.

"She'd rather lose everything than divorce him," Selig said.

The will was probated in Miami, Fla., executors of the estate have asked the Dade county circuit court there to rule on the legality of the provision.

Selig said Mrs. Reid is "a shy, sweet young woman" who has been greatly upset by the incident. She has refused to talk with reporters about it. He characterized the Reids as a "fine, upstanding couple" devoted to one another.

Reid, a television executive, has a "fairish amount of money," but nothing compared to the amount his wife would receive if she divorced him under provisions of her father's will, Selig added.

Weiskopf's dislike of his son-in-law was "just one of those personal dislikes," Selig said, adding that he had tried to change the older man's opinion but failed.

The Reids were married July 18, 1944, in New York while Reid, then an Army Air Forces captain, was home on leave from the Aleutians. Weiskopf attended the ceremony in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.
